MOTHER TELLS OF HER PLEA

I told them that he was only 18 years old and that he was a good boy, and I begged them to keep him from going into their places. I could get no satisfaction from any of them. Once I went into a small back room of a cigar store and barbershop on Twenty-third avenue, near East Fourteenth street, and saw twenty-five boys back there. They looked to be playing poker.—Statement of Mrs. Masters.

THE machinery of the District Attorney's office was set in motion today to probe the case of Helen Sergeant, 15 years old, who is being held in the Detention Home, and is said to have made a complete confession of the causes which led to her delinquency.

This confession was made behind closed doors in the Juvenile Court and the transcript of the young girl's testimony will soon be placed in the hands of Assistant District Attorney Phil Carey, who has been put in complete charge of the investigation.

It was semi-officially announced today that as soon as detectives in the employ of the district attorney's office had verified the statements made by Helen Sergeant and information would be filed before Judge Frank B. Ogden, who would order the girl's removal to the Industrial School for Girls.

According to the district attorney's office the man whom Helen Sergeant accused of having been the one directly responsible for starting her on the road to ruin is now in the Alameda county jail, facing a charge of criminal assault.

That part of the girl's testimony which has caused official investigation and started the wheels of the law on the trail of those responsible, is the statement that this young girl, who looks to be younger than fifteen, was able to procure liquor freely from all the cafes she visited on one night, though she made the rounds twice, and each time in

After leaving the court room, Chief Petersen overtook Jack Heaney on the sidewalk and took his arm. "You don't seem to be looking much weight over this, Jack," said the chief. "No," replied Heaney, and they both laughed.

WARD MASTERS, instead of being out on probation, is in the county jail; the saloonmen, gamblers and proprietors of poolrooms who were involved in his downfall, face prosecution, instead of the witness stand; an ordinance is in preparation which will effectually destroy their illegitimate traffic, and the investigation of saloon gambling has taken a deeper and broader turn than ever.

This in brief is the situation today following the session of the Juvenile Court. The necessary attention, when Ward Masters appeared before Superior Judge Donahue in connection with his plea for probation. Among those who testified were the boy's parents, Chief of Police W. J. Peterson and the proprietors of the resorts where Ward Masters had gambled away his salary and the funds of his employer, J. H. Lewis.

The evidence adduced was sufficient to convince the court and the district attorney's office that there was need for a full and complete investigation. Assistant District Attorney Phil M. Carey threw a bombshell into the crowd of saloonmen present by explaining why it was he declined to put them on the stand as witnesses. "If the court please," declared the prosecutor at the conclusion of the boy's examination, "I have reason to believe that if this office were to call as witnesses any of the men involved in this boy's

Hanford-Tewis Holdings Attached by Campbell

An attachment, holding Alameda county property for a payment of $50,000, was today filed by W. G. Campbell in the County Clerk's office against R. G. Hanford, W. S. Tewis, the Tevis Investment Company and the Hanford Land Company. The attachment calls for the holding, pending the payment named, of all Alameda county property owned by the defendants.

The attachment was issued by the Superior Court of San Francisco, and the basis of the claim is not mentioned in the formal document filed here. This was filed a few minutes before noon, when the county offices close on Saturday. Financial circles on this side of the bay were considerably surprised, and unable to guess the import of the action. The attachment was dated August 1st.

Mrs. Melcher Will Not Be Deported

Immigration authorities here refused today to institute deportation proceedings against Mrs. Clara Melcher, accused of Prince Stanislaus Sulowski. An affidavit upon which a request for her banishment was based, said to have been executed by Sulowski before he and his wealthy bride left on their honeymoon trip, was of given consideration by the immigration officials.

Venezuela's Former President Kills and Imprisons Heads.

United States Is Worried Over Return of Exile.

CARACAS, Ven., Aug. 2.—It was reported here today that all the Venezuelan government officials at Coro, in the state of Falcon, were surprised by former President Castro, and killed or taken prisoner.

The mobilization of the Venezuelan troops in Caracas was completed today and an expedition was expected to leave the capital at any moment to meet the revolutionary invaders.

U. S. IS WORRIED
WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—The sudden and unexpected announcement that Venezuela of General Castro to take personal command of the revolutionary forces confronts the State Department with a grave problem. Secretary Bryan declined to say what would be the attitude of the United States toward the presence of the unwelcome exile in the land.

The Taft administration not only approved of Castro's exile from Venezuela, but sought by every means, although without success to prevent him from landing in this country last winter. Officials realize that Castro's personal direction of the insurrection will make the movement far more formidable.

The cruiser Des Moines will leave Brunswick, Ga., Monday for Guaymas, expecting to return to port Friday.

In the hope of converting the populace of the capital to their cause, Miss Helen Todd of Chicago and San Francisco, Miss Jeannette Rankin of Boston, and other leaders are holding both day and evening meetings on the street corners.

BOODIES OF 7 MEN ARE FOUND

Superintendent of Company Believed to Be Victim.

Driving of Tunnel Into Pocket of Gas Causes Disaster.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 2.—At least thirty anthracite mine workers are believed to have been killed today in an explosion of gas in the East Brookside mine of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company at Tower City, twenty miles from it. There were two explosions. Seven bodies were recovered soon after the blast.

One of the men rescued alive estimated that there were thirty-six men at work when the accident occurred. The explosion was caused when men driving a tunnel drilled into a large pocket of gas.

Three men badly burned were rescued, but two of them are not expected to live. Officials at headquarters of the Reading company, quarters of the Reading company, are reticent and beyond admitting that there was an explosion, said they know nothing of it. It is reported that Superintendent Lawrence is among the dead inside.

Five colliery ambulances and all the doctors in that region are at the mine.

DEATH CALLS PIONEER EVENTFUL CAREER ENDED

EDWARD NEWLAND, ONE OF CALIFORNIA'S PIONEERS, WHOSE EVENTFUL LIFE CAME TO AN END LAST NIGHT.

The hand of death ended the eventful career of another California pioneer last night when Edward Newland, one of Oakland's first residents, passed away at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Alexander Campbell, 2326 Webster street. He had been critically ill for the past few days, but up to this time had been in the best of health with the exception of recurrent attacks of rheumatism.

Newland's life sounds like the chapter from a stirring piece of fiction. He was born in Kirkdale, a suburb of Liverpool, England, in 1824, and at the age of nine was sent across the sea alone to Boston, where his older brother Andrew was engaged in business. Here, he resided until the age of 21, when news of the California bonanza first came to the Massachusetts city, and with 360 other adventurous spirits, a vessel was chartered, and early in the year 1848, the voyage to the western land began.

The voyage around the Horn was a stormy one and it was because of a large cargo of iron rails below decks that the ship was delayed several weeks, finally reaching San Francisco in the spring of '50. The 361 young men were designated, with thousands of others, who came in the first months of the new year, as the "Spring of '50 birds." These men have since made their impression on the world as famous physicians, scientists, sea captains and capitalists, and Newland was one of them.

ESTABLISHED STAGE LINE.
Unlike his comrades he did not start for the mines. Instead he established a stage line from the present north beach to South Park. With the famous traffic, he soon began to amass a considerable fortune, and began branching out. A draying business was soon established and together with the staging his fortunes grew very bright.

The Vigilance Committee, that famous body of men who preserved the early law and order of the community, claimed him as a member, and it was during this period that he became acquainted with Mackay, Fair, Flood and Ralston before they had made their "piles" on the famous Comstock. This friendship lasted all through the lives of the mining millionaires, although Newland had moved to Oakland in 1859 to go into the livery stable business with his brother. The first site of the firm was at First and Broadway street, and as in former ventures was prosperous. His home at Second and Webster was the center of social life of the early days and the Castros, Merritts, Hacketts, Haywards, and other famous families were often the guests and hosts of the pioneer. The house was of Gothic architecture and has since been removed to Tenth, near Harrison, where it is now a tenement house.

RAISED BLOODED HORSES.
With a goodly amount of the world's goods, Newland began to amuse himself raising blooded horses. Some of California's fastest racers were bred by him, and Newland's "Hambietonian" and "Pascora Hayward" are both well known examples of thoroughbreds that he has given to the stock world.

Twenty-five years ago he retired from active business, and devoted all his time to the further breeding of horses for Senator Stanford, whose papers have often swept early race tracks. He spent his declining years with his children, Mrs. Alexander Campbell, Mrs. Eugene Neustadt and Edward A. Newland. His resemblance to Alphonse Daudet, the French writer, was striking, and often he was noticed by an enthusiastic auditor of the novelist, who thought that his favorite author was in Oakland.

Mr. Newland was one of the last of the "forty-niners" and his death will be regretted in all circles of California society. His gentle nature, and charitable ways were well known throughout the city, and it is with sorrow that news of his death was heard today. The funeral will take place from Mrs. Campbell's residence next Monday at 10:30.

May Place Ban on Baptists in Russia

ST. PETERSBURG, August 2. — The Russian ministry of the interior is credited today by the Novoe Vremya with the intention of permitting the Holy Synod to proclaim the Baptists as "a sect especially harmful to the state" and not possessing the right of liberty of worship.

The action of the government is attributed by the newspapers to a recent refusal of Baptists to take the military oath. The Baptist World Alliance, during its session in Philadelphia in 1911, raised $70,000 for the establishment of a Baptist seminary in St. Petersburg and two Baptist ministers were appointed to proceed to the Russian capital to seek permission from the Emperor for the erection of the buildings.

The thieves took his wallet, containing $128, valuable papers and official memoranda.

Education That Means Success

PARENTS, give your boy or girl a chance. President McKinley said: "Your children are very near to your heart strings. Give them the best education obtainable."

Have the words of the martyred President any message to you? Do you want your boy or girl to fall behind in this strenuous age while there are so many opportunities for those who are trained to do something useful?

The highest prizes and the highest honors in life are given to trained workers. The world sells his time and does the drudgery of the world. But he who cultivates his brain and mental powers or sells his thoughts and ideas is the master of his own condition in life; he is given influence and prestige among his fellow men and the highest reward for his labor.

Success in life depends not so much upon WHERE you are as WHAT you are. No matter whether you are a millionaire or at the other end of the financial thermometer you need a business education.

The business world WANTS TRAINED WORKERS, EFFICIENT SERVICE, CONSCIENTIOUS AND RELIABLE HELP in every department of commercial activity.

A practical training insures success because it trains young men and women to do the things business men want done.

RICHMOND BONDS ARE DEFEATED

School Election Fails to Score Necessary Two-Thirds Majority.

RICHMOND, Aug. 2.—The proposed bond issue of $150,000 for new school sites and buildings in the eastern section was defeated at the election held here yesterday, for two reasons—the apathy of the people, who failed to cast over one-fifth of the vote of the city, and the fact that the west side voted two to one against the improvements.

The light vote polled shows that little interest was taken in the project, and further that the sections of the city which were last year supplied with elegant schools are now indifferent whether the unsupplied sections get what they want or not. The feeling is somewhat bitter in the east side and annexed districts, who voted for the other schools and pay taxes because they have been denied like educational accommodations.

Following is the vote cast in the various precincts:

Precinct No. 1..... 56 89
Precinct No. 2..... 223 143
Precinct No. 3..... 83 18
Precinct No. 4..... 41 3
Precinct No. 5..... 61 30

Total..... 464 259
Majority 175—majority needed for two-thirds vote in favor of the bonds 251.

COUNCILMAN SHOULD DRAW LAWN MOWER

ALAMEDA, Aug. 2.—Councilman Conrad Roth may be employed by the city to pull a horse-drawn lawn mower to remove the bumps off the streets. If Superintendent of Streets V. M. Frodden has his way, Frodden asked the council at a meeting of the committee of the whole last night to purchase a second hand lawn mower for Roth to pull.

The request came up in answer to a proposition of the Southern Pacific company to sell the city a horse power lawn mower that the company finds on its hands in Tucson, Arizona. The S. P. offers the machine for $25.

Prior to the reading of the offer, Superintendent Frodden had been explaining the necessity of purchasing a street sweeper, a machine that motivates the top dressing of the streets so that it may be leveled off and regraded. He has been after the thing for a year, but always gets stood off. So Frodden is getting sore.

When the letter from the S. P. offering the second hand lawn mower was read, Councilman Roth made a motion that it be bought and given to Frodden to slip the bumps off the streets.

"It would be a good idea," said Frodden, "and I would like to have it accepted, on condition that Councilman Roth pull it around."

DROPS OUT OF SIGHT TAYLOR STILL MISSING

BAYARD TAYLOR.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 2.—A vigorous search is being instituted for Bayard Taylor by Don L. Taylor, brother of the young man, who is a prominent farmer of Winters, Cal. Young Taylor mysteriously disappeared June 14 last. He was last seen at the Ferry building, when he handed his suit case to the Golden West hotel driver. He is 25 years old; height six feet two inches, weight 210 pounds; blue eyes; light brown hair.

For several weeks his Solano county relatives and friends with the assistance of the Burns detective agency have been making a strenuous effort to locate the young man. It is feared that he met with foul play. His visit to San Francisco was on business, after which he had planned to visit his mother at Winters.

He had formerly been in the employ of the Earl Fruit company at Turlock, Fair Oaks and Sacramento. Taylor is the son of the late Colonel Samuel Taylor, who for many years was in the warehouse business at Third and Townsend streets, this city. He received his early education in Alameda county public schools and the St. Mathews Military Academy, San Mateo.

COUNTY LIBRARY WANTS RICHMOND TO JOIN

RICHMOND, Aug. 2.—A representative of the state library at Sacramento, in the person of Miss Eddy, is in Richmond, feeling the pulse of the people in the matter of the establishment of a county library at the county seat, for the benefit of all the interior towns. Miss Eddy appeared before the board of county supervisors at Martinez recently and that body has consented to co-operate with the state library in the establishment of a branch library at Martinez. Miss Eddy is here to seek aid from the Richmond city council and desires that the city agree to the extension of library taxation within every $100 of assessed property valuation. It is not thought that Richmond will pass on this, as it would in no way benefit and already has two fine libraries of its own.

'Police Women' Why, the Idea; They're 'Social Workers'

CHICAGO, Aug. 2.—The ten women appointed on the police force by Mayor Harrison should not be called "police women," in the opinion of members of the Woman's Party of Cook county, who attended the monthly meeting yesterday.

It was the beginning of an hour's discussion during which the suffragists asserted that the appellation of policemen does not support the dignity of the office and is highly improper because the duties are on a higher plane than those of a mere policeman.

It finally was decided that the ten should be referred to as "social service workers" or "civil service workers."

Church Blown Up By Vicious Crank

CLIFTON, Ariz., August 2. — The Catholic church at Clifton, near here, was almost totally wrecked early today by the explosion of dynamite. This was the second attempt at destruction, the first having been unsuccessful. The bomb was placed under the main building of the church. Father Call, who was asleep in an apartment near the sanctuary, was thrown from his bed, but escaped injury.

Officers are proceeding on the theory that the explosion was the work of a young Mexican who recently had sworn to destroy all institutions maintained by contributions from the working class.

CONEY ISLAND WAITERS WORK IN COOL ATTIRE

NEW YORK, August 2. — Several persons were injured, none fatally, and some districts were badly flooded during a storm which struck the city yesterday afternoon.

Surf avenue, Coney Island, was turned into a river. In the bathhouse of the Brighton Inn waiters in bathing suits served patrons perched on the back of chairs. A number of women removed shoes and stockings to wade to the cars from different hotels and music halls.

DANIELS INSPECTS THE NAVAL HOME

Secretary of the Navy Changes His Program in Colorado.

DENVER, Aug. 2.—Secretary Daniels was forced to change his program for today and instead of making an automobile tour of Estes Park, he left Denver early this morning for Los Animas, Colo., where he will inspect the naval home. From there he will continue his journey toward Washington and will not return through Denver.

Secretary Daniels and party were guests of honor of Denver yesterday during the celebration of the thirty-seventh anniversary of Colorado's admission to the union. Daniels was given a prominent place in the day's program.

Secretary Daniels last night as guest of the Denver Country Club, chose the topic of "Universal Peace" as the subject for an address. The secretary declared it his belief that the nations of the world are rapidly approaching the era of universal peace, when all international controversies will be settled by arbitration.

"However," he said, "it may be

SEATTLE, August 2.—If the receivers of the Seattle, Renton and South Southern railway will reduce their price from $1,400,000 to $1,200,000 the city council finance and city utilities committees will recommend that the city buy the street railway which operates 12 miles of electric line from the heart of the city to Renton.

And in the meantime the United States must keep its navy in such condition as to be ready for any emergency. E VOLUTION in whatever light you view it is always interesting. It becomes amusing when you take it from the social point of view, for you watch the growth of your friends towards things which they once not only despised, but scorned. Take for instance the matter of bridge. We all know the dear good women who in the past made us hopelessly uncomfortable. We listened with what patience we could to their many horrible stories, and then, one day, we discovered on the waste of time, and on the very bad form of playing for prizes. And the well-intentioned women went their way to their clubs—to their Browning classes—to their "Sewing Bees," having done their duty by the rest of us, and having left us to our own devices. But very soon they found that while they went their own way, sitting in their consciousness of duty well done, they were traveling for the most part alone. They were not invited to the "bridge luncheons" for, of course, they did not play bridge. And at the auction afternoons given by their friends they were invited in to tea. And to be asked to tea after bridge is in many cases embarrassing.

"A number were asked in to tea afterwards," announces a society chronicler. If one plays bridge, one is definitely hurt to be just asked to tea—and the hostess who tries to combine bridge and tea in that fashion, is bidding for one of life's disappointments. It is all right to ask elderly people, who, everybody knows, do not play bridge—but to discriminate among one's friends is very bad taste indeed. The tea drinkers are not apt to regard their hostess with all the affection she might expect.

The women of the smart set, with a very few most notable exceptions, who did not play bridge have had a lonely time of it—and have felt friendships not so strong, because they have not seen their friends, as "in days of yore."

And so it is with amusement that many have watched the efforts of women who long held aloof, to catch up with the game. They are in the depths of plain bridge,—while others play auction, and the advance guard are tackling "Nullo."

BEAUTY IN NAMES: NO LONGER THE "RAG."

It is the same thing with tango dancing. How glad everyone is that we can at last drop the odious and abominable word "Rag." We are now able to refer to the "Boston," to "the one-step," and to "the Tango,"—all of which suggest difficult but really beautiful steps. And now the very people who have most strenuously opposed the rag have become "Tango-mad." It is really "to laugh" as the bright French people have a way of saying. The elderly people have stopped short in their philippics, and they are just as "Tango-mad" as anyone else. It is quite as a young matron said recently: "It is months since I have seen my house with the rugs down. People come to call upon us, somebody starts up the music,—my come the rugs, and the dance is on." And the same clever matron went on: "I have to join in it all myself, otherwise how could I endure all the hubbub and uproar. Besides, my dear, we are living in 1913. The moment you stop keeping step with the music you are a back number. Because I'm nearing the forty-mile stone is no reason why I'm going to find some nice little shelf to occupy. No, sir. I don't like shelves. They're dark and dismal and I love the sunlight, and gay people, and pretty girls, and music, and the roar and the racket. That's life. Anybody can mope. I'll wear out, but I'll never just fold my hands and mold away." And that is why a great many people, who didn't at first approve at all, are now learning "the Tango."

And it is a fine thing to know that the very people who understand, and who do not try to put a crusher on enthusiasm, what might be life's greatest joy, are the most eager to be happy. And so we are having musical dances, planned by women who understand the need of play, and who are playgrounds designed at first for children,—but now the mothers are playing tennis, and the clubs that are the playgrounds today, are not the study clubs, with their mossy lawns,—but the big civic centers, where hundreds of people are playing tennis, and discussing big things in a big way. And they have never changed so fast in the history of progress. Quiet

ANNALS OF CLUB

LIFE ARE INTERESTING.

There is much in the annals of club life that is interesting this summer, for many plans are now being formulated, the results of which will be in evidence during the coming season. Everybody is sorry that for some reason, the Town and Country Club, and the Franciscan Club have failed to consolidate. Many people hoped they would, and that these two prominent clubs would make one great, powerful organization, and would erect a building, notable in the club annals of San Francisco. It has been talked about for months in both clubs are off. The Town and Country Club has a membership of 500, and many of its members come from the Menlo and Burlingame districts. The Franciscan Club has many city members, but it is not any more collected than the Town and Country Club, which has a fine management, more like that of the London women's clubs. Mrs. Latham McMillin is president of the Franciscan Club, and Mrs. Osgood Hooker is at the head of affairs in the Town and Country Club. Mrs. Eleanor Martin is a prominent member of the Franciscan Club, and held this week, to definitely determine the matter. To the surprise of everyone, the Franciscan members voted "no" as all the plans for consolidation.

clubs are veritable godsend. Apropos of clubs, Burlingame has adopted "the dancing tea" for the summer time at the Country Club. The first "dancing" was given on Saturday afternoon of last week, and it is planned to give these dancing teas for the remainder of the summer, especially as so many of the younger set are now home for the summer holiday time.

Club members are busy discussing the new golf links, which it is proposed to establish at Elmhurst, and which will constitute the largest and finest golf links on the coast. The rolling land at Elmhurst is well fitted for golf links,—being very like that of the most famous links in England and Scotland. Among those who are discussing the new project are such well known golfers as Stanley Moore, Charles H. Bentley, H. Spens Black, and C. G. Fraser.

CLUB PRESIDENTS ARE OUT OF TOWN.

Mrs. Easterbrook, president of the Home Club, and Mrs. C. S. Chamberlain, president of the Oakland Club, are both spending the summer out of town. Mrs. Easterbrook is at Castle Crags, where she is a frequent hostess this summer, and where her friends are enjoying many good times with her. Mrs. Easterbrook has announced that this coming season at the Home Club, on the line of that which was so very successful last season. Mrs. Chamberlain, who is much interested in civic affairs, will study conditions and experiments in the large Eastern cities before returning to California.

AUGUST BRINGS ITS SOCIAL HOUNDS.

August is here, and it has brought the return to town of so many prominent people, that social activities bid fair to begin much earlier than usual this season.

At Burlingame many prominent families are arranging for a "Harvest Moon Fete," and it is to be given on the afternoon and evening of August 30. It is to be a "Merrie England" fete, with the scene laid in the "Aldes England" of song and story. For there is to be a typical English village, with thatched cottages, and narrow lanes, and the town hall, which is so remember with pleasure the delightfully picturesque weddings of Mrs. Dodge, Mrs. Leslie Rice, and Mrs. Hellbron.

Miss Grace Layman is a very charming, lovely girl, who fully deserves all the many compliments her friends may plan for her.

MRS. DANIELS' RECEPTION HAS BRILLIANT SETTING.

Among the leading summer affairs was the reception given to Mrs. Daniels by the Women's Democratic Club, evening. It had a brilliant setting in the Oakland, and proved to be one of the most thoroughly enjoyable affairs of the mid-summer. Mrs. Edgar Ormsby received the guests, with the guest of honor, Mrs. Daniels, and it shows the interest women take in politics, that nearly 1500 women were in attendance at the Oakland, to welcome Mrs. Daniels.

In the receiving line was Mrs. Victor Metcalf, who must have been reminded of many Washington receptions, when she saw the long line of women, all anxious to meet Mrs. Daniels. Mrs. Hearst was unable to be present, as there was a week-end house party at the Hacienda, and Mrs. Frank C. Havens, who has a genius for welcoming and for entertaining people took her place.

The reception committee was a very large one, and among the many guests of the evening were Mrs. John F. Swift, Mrs. Charles Leonard Smith, Miss Mollie Connors, Mrs. Sarah C. Borland, Mrs. Cora Jones and Miss Annie Brown.

The program was made up mostly of musical numbers, and Mrs. Daniels carried away a lovely souvenir of the occasion,—a beautiful bear flag,—the flag of California. It was interesting to hear its history as told by Mrs. Carrie Hoyt.

Mrs. Daniels is a charming Southern woman, very cordial and most appreciative, and one hopes that she carried away a bright memory of the enthusiastic California women who tried so hard to entertain her.

MISS MARGARET HACKETT IS GUEST OF HONOR.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Meehan are entertaining their place Mrs. Margaret Hackett of Chicago. She is a very charming girl, for whom much will be done in a social way when many of the younger matrons and young girls return to town.

Mrs. Meehan is to entertain for her bright young niece at a bridge afternoon to be given at the hospitable Meehan home in East Oakland, next the younger matrons and young girls of her circle of friends, and a few of the older and most intimate friends of the hostess have been asked for a four o'clock tea, to welcome the sweet young guest of honor.

MRS. SAMUEL POORMAN GIVES "AT HOME."

Mrs. Samuel Poorman was an August hostess, giving at the Palace today one of the most interesting "at homes" of the summer.

Mrs. Poorman asked her friends to be present at a large tea which she is giving in honor of her daughter, Mrs. Hoyt, who is here from the East.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Hoyt have been in Washington, where Lieutenant Hoyt has been stationed, and where Mrs. Hoyt has been exceedingly popular.

The Poormans have many friends, not only in Oakland and in Alameda, where they live, but also in San Francisco, and the tea in honor of Mrs. Hoyt was a notable event.

Mrs. Hoyt will also be the complimented guest of Miss Helen Crane, the talented daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Crane. Miss Crane will entertain for her friend in her home in San Jose.

AUGUST WEDDING INTERESTS SOCIETY.

An August wedding of much interest will be that of Myrlan Fox Jr. and Miss Etta Musser, which will take place at St. Paul's church, and will be followed by a reception at the Piedmont home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Charles Lovell.

Miss Phyllis Lovell is to be the maid of honor, and the wedding and reception will both be interesting social dates of the mid-summer.

HENSHAW-O'CONNOR ENGAGEMENT KNOWN.

The engagement of Tyler Tubbs Henshaw and Miss Irene Patricia O'Connor, which was formally announced this week, has aroused much interest, but did not create any surprise. The engagement was known to the many friends of both the young people, and the only surprise regarding it, is that it did not earlier appear in the papers. Both Mr. Henshaw and his bride-elect are graduates of the University of California, and both have been very popular in college as well as in social circles.

Tyler Henshaw spent many months in the East with his mother, Mrs. Florence Henshaw, and both he and his brother Fritz, were students at Harvard University. Mr. Henshaw was admitted to practice some months ago, but he is still going on with his law studies in the office of Garrett McEnerney in San Francisco. Patricia O'Connor is a charming and most attractive young girl. She is known to her relatives and intimate friends by the endearing name of "Patsy O'Connor," and she is exceedingly clever. She has a very sweet voice, which has been wonderfully well trained, and she was a great success in vaudeville in New York. Many Oakland people were charmed with her, when she appeared before the Ebell Club last spring, in a series of delightful songs. All the members of her family are clever, cultured people, and her brother, Grover O'Connor, also a graduate of the University of California, and of Hastings College of Law, is in the law office of Creed, Titus and Dahl, in San Francisco.

Mrs. Florence Henshaw has a picturesque home in Ben Lomond, and she is entertaining there her future daughter-in-law, Miss Patricia O'Connor.

Tyler Henshaw has many relatives, as the family connection is a large one, so the good wishes and congratulations being sent to the young people this week are many, and are all very sincere.

HERE IS MUCH NEWS OF OAKLAND SOCIETY.

Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Moffitt, and their children, who went abroad early in the summer are now in Vienna. Dr. Moffitt spent years there in study after his graduation from the Harvard Medical College. Later in the summer the Moffitts expect to go to Paris. Dr. Moffitt's mother, Mrs. James Moffitt has been with them during part of their stay in Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Selfridge are at Carlsbad, Germany, and are taking the cure there. They went abroad early in the summer, and enjoyed a delightful motor trip through the cathedral towns of France.

President and Mrs. Benjamin Ide Wheeler spent the month of July at Bad Nauheim, and letters from there bring the news that he is greatly improved in health. The Wheelers will spend the autumn abroad, and part of their stay on the continent will be mother, Mrs. George W. McNear senior. She will remain abroad until autumn, and will be present at the wedding of her aunt, Miss Bessie McNear. The marriage of Mr. Griffiths and Miss McNear will take place in the autumn.

Griffith Henshaw and Harry Chickering have gone to Mendocino county for the month of August. They are on the big, picturesque ranch of the Henshaws, in the heart of the splendid redwood forests of Mendocino. Later in the year other members of the Henshaw family will join them.

Judge and Mrs. Melvin are spending the summer in the Santa Cruz mountains, and they have been entertaining relatives and friends at many interesting house parties this summer. They will probably again make their home in San Francisco during the coming winter.

Mrs. Wickham Havens, Mrs. George Wilhelm, and Mrs. Robert Newell were a trio of young matrons who sailed away this week for Honolulu. A large party of friends were at the dock to wish them "bon voyage" and a merry time in the Islands. They are all popular young matrons and when they return they will deserve all the "aloha's" that may express gladness on their return.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Goodfellow returned this week to Del Monte, where they are to spend the remainder of the summer. They are with Mrs. Goodfellow's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Cory of Fresno, who spend the Piedmont. She was accompanied from the South by her daughter, Mrs. Oscar Long, and by her grand daughters the Misses Amy and Sally Long.

Mr. and Mrs. Parker Lyon of Fresno have also come North for the summer. Mr. Lyon spends part of each summer at Bartlett Springs and the family also plan many motor trips in the mountains. Mrs. Lyon and her children are spending some weeks with her mother Mrs. Elsey, at the delightful Elsey home on Crocker Highlands. It is one of the most beautiful residences on the heights, a handsome home in which Mrs. Elsey and her daughter, Mrs. Charlotte Heatley, make their friends most welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Ploda, (Mrs. Estelle Reed), have returned from their wedding trip and have taken an apartment on Clay street in San Francisco, where they will make their future home. Mrs. Ploda is a daughter of Judge and Mrs. Harris and she is a have chosen to go to the mountains for the summer and they are among the many guests who have found Castles a delightful place for a summer sojourn this year.

Mrs. Thomas Crellin, Mrs. Fitzgerald, Mrs. Wallace Everett and Miss Mona Crellin have motored extensively this summer. They were recently guests at Asta Springs, and they have been at many of the leading springs in Lake county.

The Joseph Libbey Kings are entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Joseph King Jr. in their home across the bay. The younger Kings have recently returned from a wedding trip to Yosemite Valley. The wedding was a great surprise to everyone, though Joseph King has always said he would have a quiet wedding. Joseph King Jr. is a nephew of Mrs. Isaac Requa, and a cousin of Mark Requa and of Mrs. Oscar Long.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Leonard Smith left today for a summer vacation in the mountains. They are going to the Shasta region, and they will remain for a month at Castella near Shasta Springs.

Mr. Paul Selby, after spending a few weeks in California with his rela-

Lawrence Waterbury as his guest at the Bohemian Club links this year. Mr. Waterbury will also be entertained by many prominent people of Burlingame. He has promised his support to the polo tournament, which is to be one of the features of 1915 entertainments.

BEGAN HER LITERARY SUCCESS IN OAKLAND.

Margaret Cameron, the well known writer, whose books the Harper Brothers have been publishing recently, made her first literary success for many years.

She is now in Rio Janeiro, and is very enthusiastic over the beautiful bay of Rio, supposed to be the most beautiful in the world. Mrs. Cameron is planning to spend the summer in the high Andes.

STRENUOUS SUMMER FOR SOCIETY FOLK.

There has never been a summer when strenuous athletics everywhere seem to be the order of the hour. For one thing, there is swimming, and at Newport, indifferent as the smart set is to many things, it is simply mad an active part in a number of fashions last winter and in the early spring.

Miss Elizabeth Jewett, a popular girl in society across the bay, showed a rare talent for expression in a recent outdoor drama staged for charity. Miss May Cashmon also won golden opinions for her dramatic ability on the same occasion.

WITH THOSE WHO ARE ON VACATIONS.

Mrs. Granville Abbott and her children has for the past eight weeks the beautiful home of the Mackenzies in the mountains near Santa Cruz. Mrs. Abbott has been entertaining many friends there this summer, and among her recent guests were Mrs. Herbert Brown, (Florence Sharon), Miss Esther Sharon, and Herford Sha-

Mr. and Mrs. Tyler Henshaw, who have spent the greater part of July at Del Monte, have gone to Portland, where Mrs. Henshaw has many relatives and friends. Miss Pearl Cawston, Mrs. Henshaw's daughter, is visiting friends in Seattle.

The Minor Goodalls, the George Greenwoods, and the Harry Knowles, make a delightful coterie of friends, who with their daughters are spending delightful days at Avalon, Catalina Island. They are all planning to return about the middle of August.

It is learned that Mary Austin, who will have a new book out this fall, has been devoting a large part of her time to superintending the building of her new home at Carmel. Mrs. Austin has been identified with Carmel for a long time, and was one of the original colony of writers and artists who brought the little place into international fame. She returned to California from New York early last fall, where she has been ever since.

Mrs. Austin's new book, which will be published by Doubleday, Page & Co., is somewhat of a departure from her usual style.

She is a great friend of George Sterling and of James Hopper, and of the other literary notables who make Carmel-by-the-Sea a notable place.

"BLACK AND WHITE" AND SEASON'S GOWNS.

At the Hotel Oakland, at the St. Francis, at the Palace,—one sees in the newest effects in costumes, the same color scheme in black and white. It is absolutely certain that there is to be a "black and white" autumn, and perhaps a "black and white" winter as well. It was Paris which first discovered Whistler, with his black and white creations, and Paris first appreciated Aubrey Beardsley, so it is not so very surprising that now everybody in Paris seems to be quite crazy over black and white—either black or white or both. One hears of it that "chic, stunning, startling, like figures on a poster, the smart women of the greatest fashion metropolis on earth wander through the Bois de Boulogne, or step from their black and white limousines to shop in the exclusive stores on the Rue de Rivoli.

Black and white is the smart, the sure, the safe thing to wear today. It always looks chic, it brings out every good point in its wearer. It is discreet, yet startling. And it certainly is fascinating.

Women everywhere are asking for black and white costumes, exactly as they are appearing in the races in France. This is specially true in London, in Berlin, and in Vienna.

A prominent woman writes from abroad:

"I have never seen so much black and white in my life as I saw the three weeks I was in Paris. And equally true is the fact that I never saw women look more stunning. The hats for the most were solid black, made either of chantilly lace or of meline. Sometimes there was a touch of white in the hat, but usually that was introduced in the dress or in the footwear. The women were wearing the smartest boots of black patent leather and white buckskin, with little jet buttons with white mother of pearl eyes.

Mrs. James Ellis Tucker, president of the San Francisco Civic Center wore one of these gowns at the reception to Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Daniels. Her gown was of black embroidered net, over black and white striped satin, with a small black hat trimmed in plumes.

Mrs. E. E. Brownell was also beautifully gowned, in a costume of black lace and velvet dotted net, made solid white, with a velvet coat.

Mrs. George McNear Junior has brought back some very stunning about swimming. Everybody goes every morning to Bailey's Beach. A clever woman writes of it all:

"It is madness to attempt to describe the costumes and the antics that go on here. The other morning Herman Oelrichs' yacht hurried in from the sea. Two of its whimsical young male guests had suddenly decided to come ashore. This was no easy task. A lifeboat had to be lowered. To save that difficulty some of the fair swimmers said: 'Never mind, we'll carry them on our shoulders, the which they did safely.

"Who says that the modern woman could not bear arms?"

Golf comes in for its share of attention. Many women play tennis, and in the East and in our own mountains, everybody walks, so all one's friends are expected to return from their summer holiday, with the sylph-like figures, that Dame Fashion inexorably demands.

WHY NOT CALL ASHLEY POPE BACK TO OAKLAND

Young Twirler Has Recovered
Control Apparently in the State League.

By BILLY FITZ.

Why not call Ashley Pope back to Oakland to help the champions in their stretch run for the pennant? This youngster was only released because of lack of control, and he has acquired that apparently. Yesterday he outpitched Edmunston, the ex-Venetian, in a battle at San Jose, winning his own game with a corking single. Last Sunday he accomplished the same trick.

Other Coast League clubs are apparently due for a taste of how it feels to have war players out of the game for weeks with injuries. Ernie Johnson was knocked senseless at Los Angeles yesterday and the Angels will miss the services of the savior for some time. Clair Goodwin will probably fill in.

Sacramento suffered worse than Los Angeles for "Bill" Kenworthy has a broken hand and will be out for several weeks. His place is to be taken by "Dolly" Stark.

Every team in the league now has gone "hit-crazy" except the Oaks, and they are due very soon to give some team an awful lambasting. The Spoonbills had their turn yesterday in the very first inning when they knocked Church and Jackson from the box and scored ten runs in the very first inning. Dillon finally drew James, explaining that he didn't intend to waste him on a "bunch of dubs."

Our prediction that the Angels wouldn't finish one-two-three seems about to be fulfilled.

Boundary hits by Brashear, Kane and Epp were for Venice yesterday, 6-2. The Angels seem to have found their slugging apparatus.

It's becoming quite like second nature for us to announce that "Gardner" beat out an infield hit. This little scored pill started all the trouble for the seas yesterday when he beat out Corbin's throw from short in the very first inning. Thomas tried to catch him at second on Gardner's grounder and as he threw the ball, then Zacher doubled and Cook hit the fence and Chest doubled triple.

When the situation looked serious and the Angels finished, allowing one more run, but finishing with two to spare, 5-3.

Looks like Pernell against Henley today.

"Pop" Arlett has an alibi for his defeat by Fresno, his team mates plugging five errors.

In the third inning Gardner made a great stop of Mundorff's grounder and it looked as if he might double. Deane at second, he threw wild, however, and all hands were safe. Incidentally this was the only miscue of the Oaks.

Mitte contested Deane's infield tap in the third. The play was a close one, as he had started for the bench and it was necessary to call him back to the base.

"Hit me!" roared Jerry Powers when he was called back by umpire Held after having beaten the ball to first. "Say, what's that?" asked. "There and then Powers came out of the clubhouse, which went for a double.

Our former pitcher, Crisp, caught for Tacoma. He binged on for two sacks and did not make an error.

ADVICE TO RUNNERS IN TRIBUNE MARATHON

John Barleycorn and Athletics Don't
Mix, Warns Trainer

By C. H. TOOLE,
Assistant Secretary Oakland Y. M. C. A.

JOHN BARLEYCORN and athletics cannot be mixed. Even if used moderately, alcohol will prove a handicap to the distance runner practically impossible to overcome, and to one whose heart has been weakened by a long friendship with John Barleycorn the idea of combining the two is very frequently overlooked by the novice of the securing and breaking in of suitable shoes. Do not wait until the eve of the race and buy a pair of stiff shoes, as they are sure to put your feet in such a condition as to handicap you greatly.

I would advise strongly against using spikes of any length as you will find the roads much too hard for them to be used to advantage. A well-fitting, well-broken-in baseball shoe with the spikes removed will be found suitable for this kind of a race.

Too much care cannot be taken of the feet. Upon returning from a practice run, bathe the feet. Pushers will be found of value to protect the feet from blisters.

Get in good physical trim without making the muscles sore by running the full distance the first time out.

Exercise, follow this with a short run of about a mile at the same pace as your present condition. If possible, finish with a ten-minute work-out in the gymnasium, quick showers and rub down.

Walter Johnson's Wonderful Record as a Pitching Star

(By T. M. DARGIE)

The presentation of a loving cup in Washington, D. C., to Walter Johnson, the marvelous twirler of the Nationals, calls attention to the performance of this year of a very remarkable player.

It was just six years ago that the Idaho farmer stepped into the box for his major league debut. He was tall, raw-boned, and he looked a perfect mark. His uniform fitted him as though it was hung on a clothes rack, and the fans enjoyed themselves thoroughly at his expense.

With little preparation and no advance notice, Johnson went into the box against the Detroit Tigers. He showed his wonderful speed at once, but his fielding was so raw that the Tigers began bunting the ball to him and won the game.

Johnson's record for the year is as follows:

Since then Walter Johnson has been the greatest pitcher in the game. He has made good this year in the face of the most strenuous opposition on the part of the league, and he alone has made Washington a contender for the pennant.

His value to Clark Griffith cannot be estimated in dollars.

Up to July 13 of last month, Walter Johnson had won nearly as many games as the rest of the Washington pitchers put together. Look at his record:

NOTICE OF MEETING.

Whereas, a resolution duly passed and adopted by the Board of Directors Bowen & French Manufacturing Company, a corporation organized under the laws of the State of California, on the 5th day of July, 1913, and duly entered in the Minute Book of said corporation.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that a meeting of the stockholders of said corporation has been called by the Board of Directors, and is hereby called and will be held at the office of Snook & Peterson, 272, Security Park Building, on Broadway street, in Oakland, Alameda County, California, on Monday, the 11th day of August, 1913, at the hour of five o'clock P. M. of said day, for the purpose of considering and acting upon the proposition of dissolving the said corporation, winding up its affairs, and disposing of its assets according to law, and to such other matters and things as may come before the stockholders.

By order of the Board of Directors,
Stanley B. Bowen, President, M. J. Mac-

Eleanor (in tears)—"Here's my prettiest shirtwaist torn and ruined by that laundry. I haven't a clean one to wear to the party tonight."

Anty Drudge—"Well, that one is if you will get a cake of Fels-Naptha Soap I'll show you how to get another one clean in a hurry, in cool or lukewarm water, with very little work."

How long your clothes last depends not on how much they are worn, but on how often they are washed. That is, if they are washed in the old-fashioned way.

Boiling hurts any clothes. And hard rubbing on the washboard wears them out.

You avoid this by washing the Fels-Naptha way in cool or lukewarm water. Boiling and hard-rubbing are unnecessary, because Fels-Naptha Soap dissolves the dirt.

Be sure to follow the easy directions on the red and green wrapper.

HIGHWAY LAWS ARE CAUSE OF DISPUTE

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 2.—Two interpretations of California's $15,000,000 highway act, with proponents of each backing their construction of the law by statistics, figures and what seemed irrefutable logic, were three times heard yesterday by the advisory board of the department of engineering, in session in Governor Johnson's office to consider finally arguments on the three big highway routing disputes.

The question of whether the highway act of 1909, which provided for a system of roadways north and south through the State in the most direct routes possible, or whether the law should be construed to mean the most advantageous route to the people, and yet generally carry out the direct principle, was threshed out from all angles.

At the close of the hearings, which lasted from 9 a. m. until 6:35 p. m., Governor Johnson, who acted as chairman of the board, announced that a final verdict in the three disputes would be given on his return from Los Angeles late next week.

HEARS BURGLAR AT WORK WHILE SHE BATHES

Mrs. George Clarken Has Exciting Experience With An Intruder

Thief Finally Escapes and Dashes Down Street Without Plunder.

While a burglar was engaged in looting her bedroom, Mrs. George Clarken last night stood trembling on the other side of the bathroom door, braced to hold the door against the man should he attempt to enter. Mrs.

Clarken was away from home last night, and had left her garments in the bedroom. She stood trembling, the water dripping from her body.

The burglary occurred at the Mariposa Apartments, 123 Lake street, and is believed to have been committed by the "Lakeside burglar" who has been looting homes in the residence neighborhood of Lake Merritt.

Mrs. Clarken is the wife of George Clarken, former attorney, who lives at 1728 Eighth street. No definite information has been secured as to where Miss West-phal's former husband was. It is believed that he has been killed by the state, but they say, she has devoted them and has again been pierced by Cupid's arrow.

Miss Westphal was the granddaughter of the late J. and Mrs. J. C. Westphal, who resided for many years at 1728 Eighth street. No definite information has been secured as to where Miss West-phal's former husband was. It is believed that he has been killed by the state, but they say, she has devoted them and has again been pierced by Cupid's arrow.

Reports state that Mrs. Westphal and Blake have been intimate about a year. She is a talented amateur and has won recognition as a dancer, having appeared in a number of smart affairs given here by society folk. Miss Westphal planned a stage career and at the time of her first elopement she consulted her friends as they expected to see her perform as a professional in the theatrical world.

Cranwell, her first husband, was the son of a local business man and a local gossip says that the Westphal family looked up Miss Westphal upon one occasion to see if she was a suitable match for their son.

But Cranwell's efforts were in vain and they were separated. Mrs. Cranwell obtained an annulment of the marriage following a scene in a local case, when her husband found her dining with an actor, a press agent and an automobile man. Eve witnesses said that Cranwell created such excitement that he was ejected from the restaurant.

BLAKE'S PARENTS WEALTHY. SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 2.—Mrs. M. E. Blake, mother of Thomas M. Blake, the 16-year-old boy, stated that he eloped yesterday with Miss Westphal of Oakland, had left the Blake apartments, 1550 Washington street, this morning, but a friend was responsible for the statement that while she was much opposed to the marriage, the mother would give her blessing if she could not persuade the couple to wait a while. The family, according to information obtained at the residence, are descendants of Henry VIII of England on one side and young Blake's grandfather was a chief justice in Germany. The Blakes are very wealthy. Mrs. Blake is the owner of the Blake apartment in the fashionable Nob Hill section.

"We have not heard as to whether the couple are married or not," said Mrs. Blake's confidante, and she said that she had not seen the couple since they had eloped. She said that she had not seen the couple since they had eloped. She said that she had not seen the couple since they had eloped.

With her ear close to the door, listening for the man to come closer, she stood and bared herself to hold the door. When he came near that side of the room in his search she almost screamed, but succeeded in remaining quiet. Finally the burglar climbed out the bedroom window and clambered down a drain pipe to the ground.

Mrs. Clarken waited a moment and then rushed from the room and hastily donned her clothes. Then she gave the alarm.

A. W. Rollins of the El Nido Apartments, 1530 Madison street, opened the door of his place and came out into the street just as the burglar had emerged from the Clarken rooms. The man had taken two gold watches, a diamond ring and diamond necklace and other jewelry in a silver mesh purse. When Rollins saw him he was coolly engaged in removing the jewelry from the purse and placing it in a handkerchief.

The man dropped the jewelry when he saw Rollins and running down the street, leaped a fence and disappeared. Rollins reported the affair to Patrolman E. J. O'Donnell and a search was made of the neighborhood. The man had made good his escape.

Clarken returned home shortly after the burglary and found Mrs. Clarken almost in a state of nervous collapse from her experience.

GAMBLES SALARY THEN TRIES SUICIDE. SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 2.—After watching at the bedside of her husband until almost dawn, Mrs. H. H. Hamilton, wife of Harry Hamilton, watchman in the Phelan building, who shot himself last night, went to her home, 204 Third street, exhausted. At noon today Hamilton was still in the hospital, the physicians at the Central Emergency hospital have been marveling at his vitality and did not expect him to last out the night. It is not thought that he can recover.

The gambling away of his July salary, amounting to $15 was responsible for the officer's attempt on his life in the assembly room in the Phelan building while his wife was nearby.

BLAKE'S LOVE TRIUMPHS ALICE WESTPHAL ELOPES

Marriage Caused Sensation and Was Quickly Annulled.

Young love triumphed again when Alice Westphal, an 18-year-old girl of this city and Thomas M. Blake of San Francisco, a lad of the same age, secured a marriage license yesterday in San Francisco and according to later reports eloped and were married without the consent of their parents.

Miss Westphal's former marriage with Lewis R. Cranwell, 15 years of age was annulled last November and at that time caused a sensation in both families. Her parents had been married for 15 years.

Miss Westphal was the granddaughter of the late J. and Mrs. J. C. Westphal, who resided for many years at 1728 Eighth street. No definite information has been secured as to where Miss West-

FU CHOW CANNOT LEAVE REPUBLIC

Army From Peking Will Invade it if it Secedes.

AMOI, China, Aug. 2.—The city of Fu Chow must reverse its recent resolution to secede from the Chinese Republic within 10 days, or an army from Peking will invade the province of Fukien. Native reports today declare that Provisional President Yuan Shi Kai has sent an ultimatum to this effect.

A serious situation has been brought about in Amoy by the continued fighting between the semi-Mongolian Tungan tribesmen and the Formosans. The Japanese authorities interfered yesterday and caused the arrest of the leader of the Tungas. Tribesmen in retaliation took some soldiers prisoners and declare they will hold them as hostages for the safety of their leader. A Japanese warship is laying off the distressed district.

PORTS BOMBARDED. SHANGHAI, Aug. 2.—The Wu-Sing forts, which are in the hands of the rebels, were bombarded at daybreak by the Chinese government warships commanded by Admiral Tseng, but no damage caused. Two cruisers opened fire at a range of five miles and the forts replied. After a desultory exchange of shots lasting an hour the warships withdrew.

FIRE ENDANGERS HOMES ON LAKE. SEATTLE, Aug. 2.—A spectacular forest fire, which sprang up on the east side of Lake Washington, the eastern boundary of Seattle, swept through the timber between Lake Washington and Lake Sammamish last night. The fire, which had smoldered for two days, started near the Beaux Arts village, opposite Mercer Island, and fanned by a high wind, traveled northward rapidly. Although the east shore of Lake Washington is dotted with suburban towns and villages, none of them endangered.

Volunteers from the towns and logging camps were unable to make much headway against the flames, but at midnight the fire appeared to have lost some of its intensity.

Because of inadequate facilities for communication with the fire zone, it was impossible to estimate the damage.

DECIDES CASE SITTING ON FENCE AT FARM. SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 2.—Too busy harvesting to go to his office, Justice of the Peace H. H. Wilson yesterday sat on the fence of his farm at Medical Lake, heard a youth plead guilty, and sentenced him to pay a fine of $50 and costs for taking liquor into prohibition territory.

The prisoner was taken to the justice's farm by the prosecuting attorney, who read the charge while the justice wiped the perspiration from his brow.

The sentence was suspended after the costs had been paid.

Baseball Officials Involved in Suit

SAN FRANCISCO, August 2.—J. Cal Ewing and F. M. Ish, of fame in baseball, are now defendants in a suit for a contract for the purchase of land for ball grounds at Valencia, Mission and Army streets, filed this morning by Ferdinand Heshal. The plaintiff sets forth that there was an agreement on the part of the defendants to purchase the property and that $10,000 was paid down and the balance of $155,000 was to be paid on installment with 6 per cent interest. He avers that there is owing $7575 interest and $1000 taxes. He wants the defendants to pay up or the court to sell the property.

The grounds referred to were found to be too close to St. Luke's Hospital and would not serve the purposes of the baseball magnates. For that reason a search for land elsewhere was made.

THROWS HER 3 CHILDREN FROM 2D STORY WINDOW. CHICAGO, Aug. 2.—Three children were seriously injured yesterday when their mother threw them from a second story window of a burning building. Mrs. Mary Kula, the mother, then jumped from the window and was badly hurt.

GIRL'S ESCAPE IS LAID TO PARENT

Bench Warrant Issued by Judge Donahue for Her Return.

After having been placed in a settlement home at Fifth and Kirkham streets by the Associated Charities, following the sending of her father to the county jail yesterday on a charge of contributing to her dependency, 13-year-old Audrey Lawrence last night, three hours after entering the home, escaped and is missing. A bench warrant for her return and a subpoena for her mother, were issued today by Judge Donahue, it being declared that the girl was taken away by the parent.

The girl left the institution to return to her home last night, she said, to get her coat. She returned, with the sum of $9 in her possession, and a few moments later was missing. Neighbors declare that the mother, after proceedings in the juvenile court yesterday, left for San Francisco, and it is believed the girl joined her. The sheriff's office is on her trail.

R. Lawrence, the girl's father, was accused of being a habitual drunkard and beating her. Yesterday in the juvenile court the judge, leaning toward him, snatched liquor on his breath, and at once remanded him to the county jail.

Then declaring that he wished to ascertain if her home was a proper place for her, Judge Donahue remanded the girl to the care of the Associated Charities pending an inquiry. The mother, returning home, is believed to have met the girl and planned the escape. They will, if apprehended, be brought again before Judge Donahue Monday.

Fresh Frozen Peaches Tomorrow—very delicious

Tomorrow we are going to offer our patrons one of the best desserts we've ever made.

As usual it will be arranged in three flavors, all in the one brick:

FRESH FROZEN PEACHES
PECAN NUT ICE CREAM
VANILLA ICE CREAM

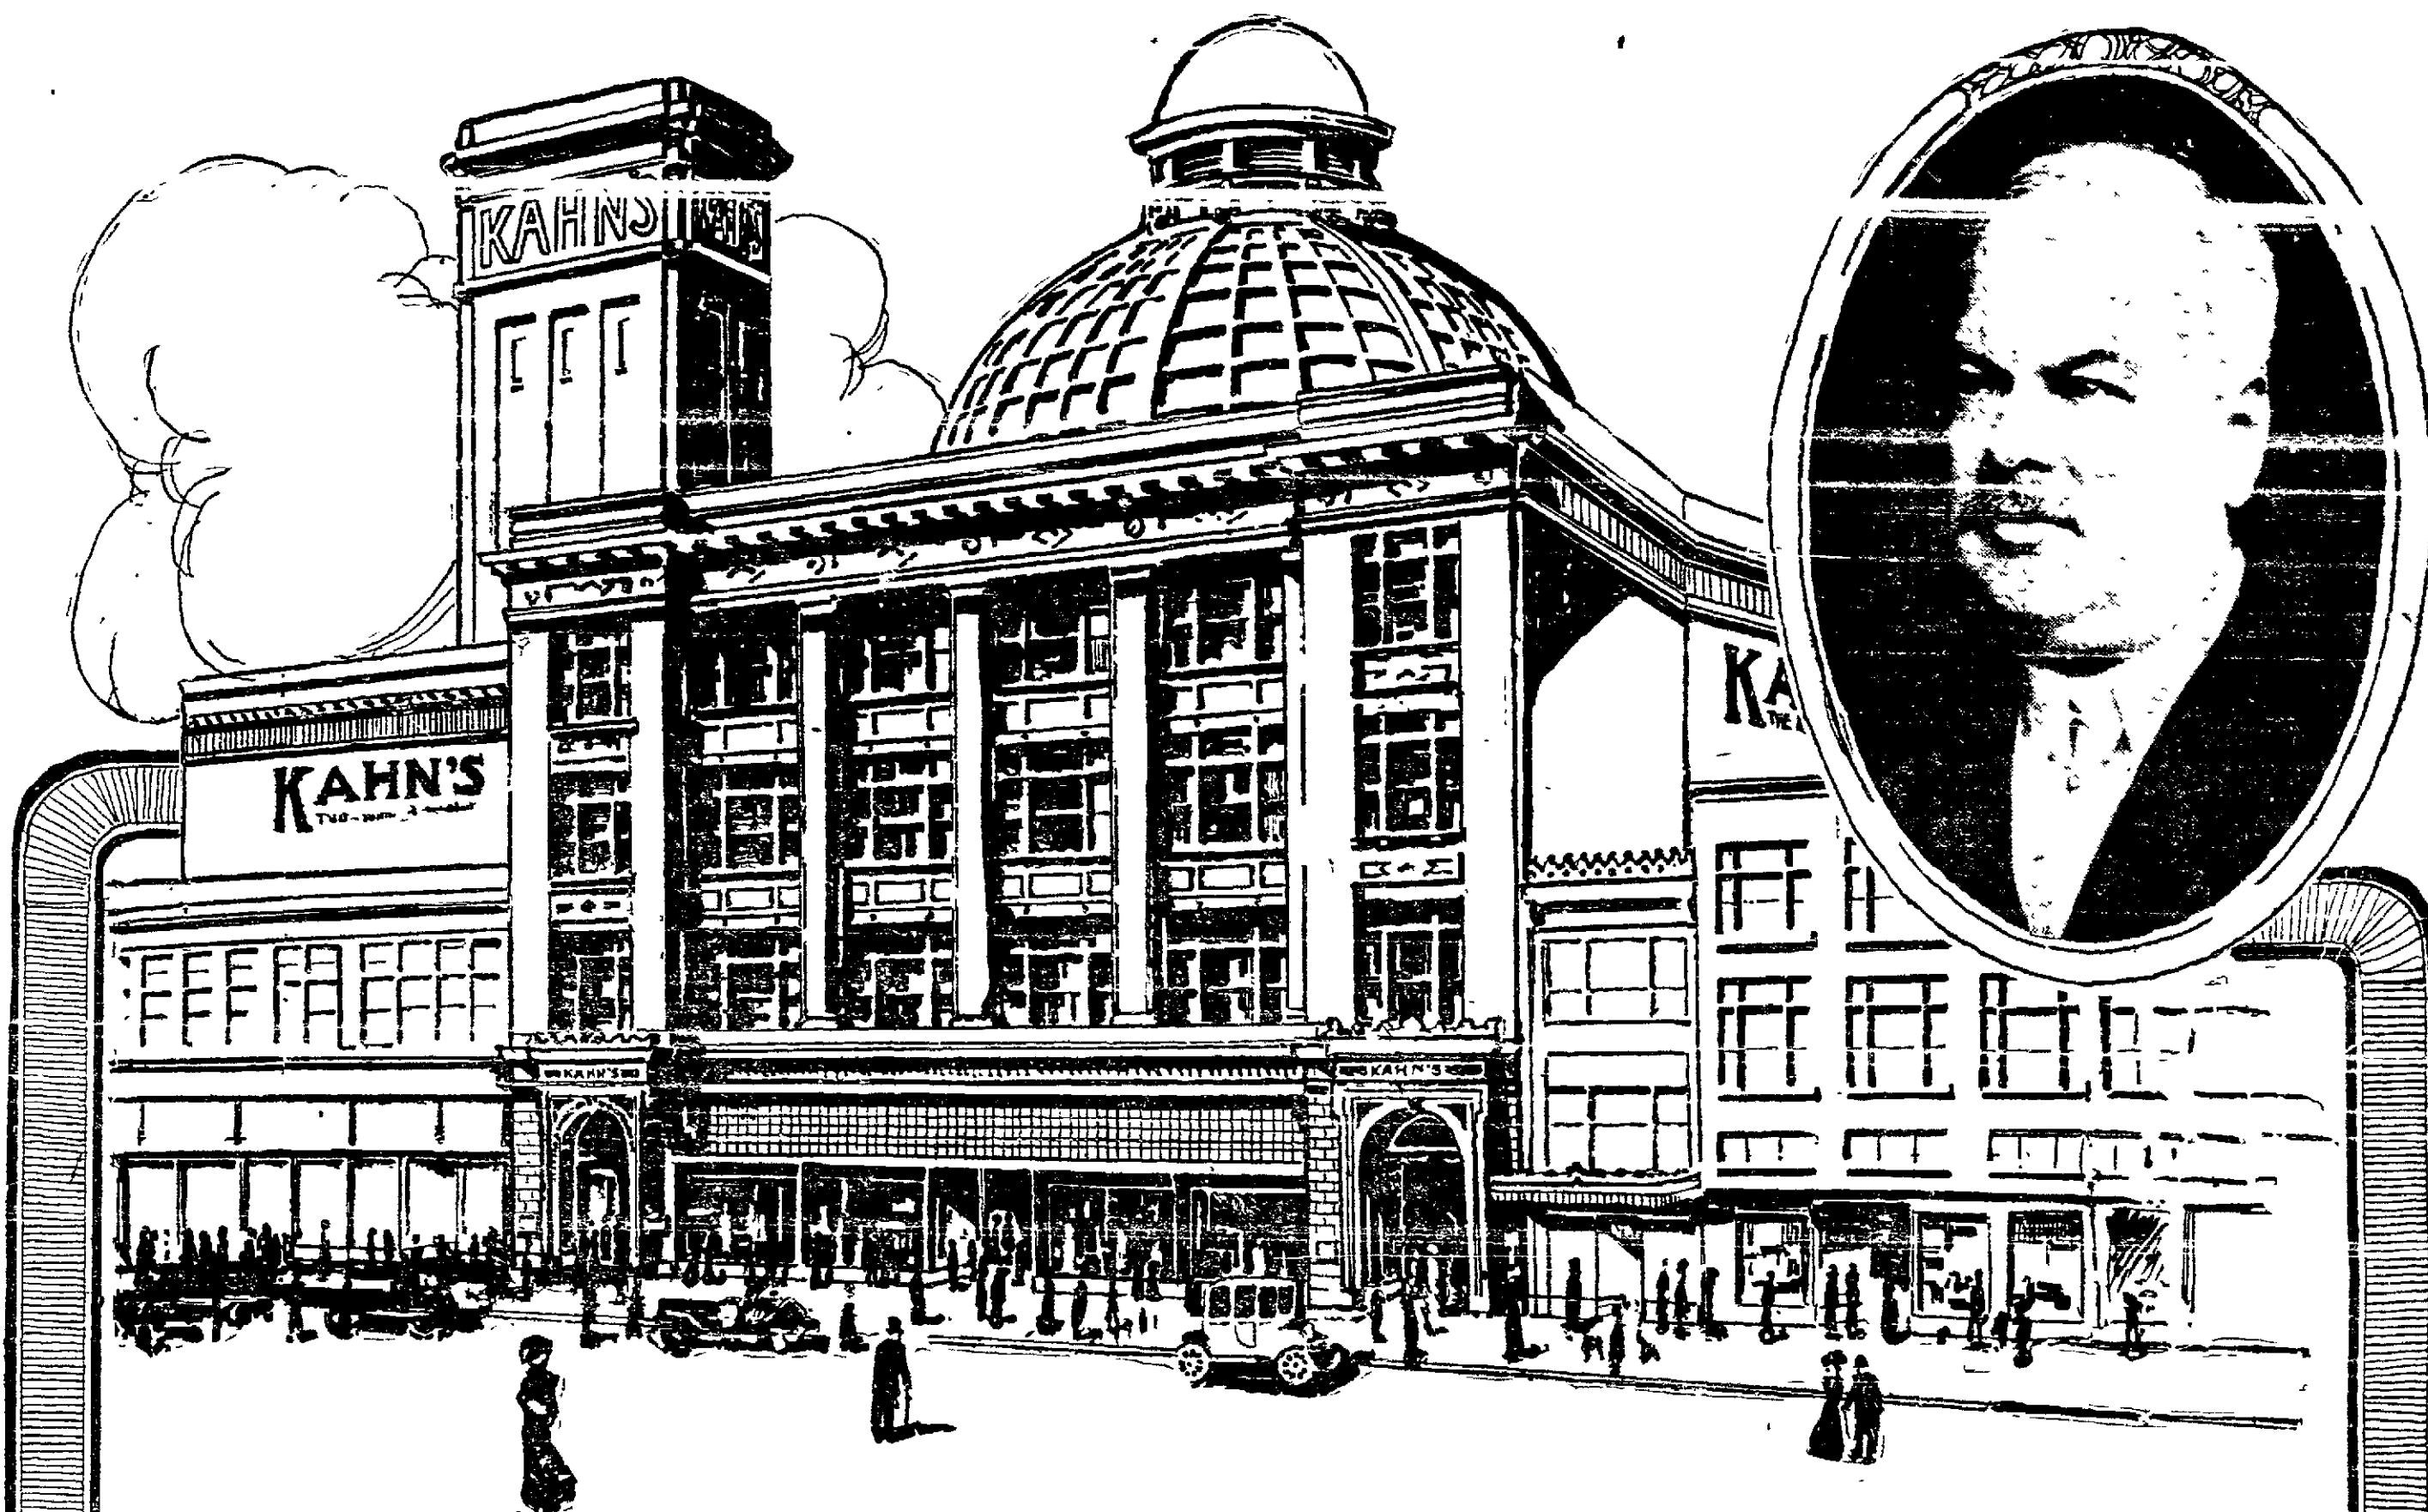

These peaches are the finest to be found in the market, fresh, ripe and carefully selected, then peeled, cut and frozen with rich cream. The Pecan Nut Ice Cream is also exceedingly good and seems to go especially well with the frozen peaches.

There is nothing we know of which makes a more perfect combination and we hope that all of our old patrons will take full advantage of this most excellent brick.

LEHNHARDT'S

DOORS OF GREAT STORE THROWN OPEN

Public Inspects Magnificent Structure That Is Credit to City and Monument to Men Who Inspired and Created It

THE doors of Kahn Brothers' new store opened quietly today at 1 o'clock. No blare of trumpets announced to Alameda county that its new shopping center was open for its approval—the portals swung slowly back and all Alameda county rushed in. It was an eager multitude that searched every nook and cranny of the big establishment facing Sixteenth street, Telegraph and San Pablo avenues—pleased faces entered the huge doors; delighted faces were seen emerging. There was a note of satisfaction in the lines of every face, that pleased look which cannot be mistaken, and which heralds a determination to aid this side of the bay by aiding the new store.

Thousands came to look—thousands stayed to buy necessities and novelties on tempting display. Aisles were crowded with as gentle a crowd as has ever gathered at a similar affair; good-natured nudging and hustling was of course unavoidable, and "pardon mes" were granted with the goodwill that comes at such a time when all Oakland is rejoicing at its magnificent new addition.

TANGO GOWN DISPLAY.
The Tango Tea Gown on display all day, of course, was one of the attractions that held people in the establishment many minutes more than they had intended staying. It is all that they say about it—and then some. It is expected that a special policeman will be necessary for this evening's display, for eager audiences will crowd and crush forward to see such a novelty, and protesting attendants will avail nothing.

And the ice cream fountain. All through the afternoon a small army of men dished out the great American confection to the greater American people. No rest was afforded them, and it will be with sighs of complete satisfaction tonight that they witness the closing of the doors on the first day of the firm's occupation of the new building. From the fountain the crowds made their way slowly through the mazes of the main floor. The florist's department in the center, banked with all the flowers of our California, presented a bright picture in the midst of all the mahogany counters and staid, white pillars. Yet, the interior is not heavy—it rather appeals to one as being light, airy and homelike. Of course the immense rotunda is a feature that strikes the onlooker the minute he steps into the building. The light comes through the glass dome with all the brilliance that is present outside, yet without the intensity of direct sun rays. The soft, sure light bathes the whole interior with brightness unparalleled, and it is with a feeling of thankfulness that patrons walk through the departments, where it is no longer necessary to strain the eyes for a glance at the merchandise displayed.

COVERS AN ACRE.
Covering an acre of ground as it does, the huge store carries almost that amount of selling capacity, and goods will be able to have their merits judged easily because of the modern showcase system, which places special emphasis on a few articles rather than many. The arcade show windows, of course, afford double view space, fifty-four of them being considered enough to thoroughly display the wares that are to be changed many times a week if found necessary by the corps of trained window-dressers. These arcades measure 130 feet, which if doubled on both the Telegraph and San Pablo avenue sides, brings the length of window display to 520 feet, making one of the largest arcade systems on the Pacific Coast.

The huge windows on the three higher floors bring balm to the abused eyes of tailors and needleworkers of all kinds. No longer will tired eyes endeavor to pierce semi-darkness so that tiny stitches may be made—the light is there, and better work will naturally result. Mirrors placed in every corner help to reflect and magnify the sunlight, and the matching of delicate shades is made a simple process where once it was a painful ordeal.

REST ROOM FOR WOMEN.
There are rest rooms for the women employes and rest rooms for the patrons—stools, many and varied, cosy chairs and lounging places of all kinds.

Comfort is a watchword, the splendor of the finishing having no effect upon the evident desire for spacious and ample lounging places. They are hospitable people in the big store, and the "homey" idea is carried out in every line of the shop, every seat, every counter. One is made to feel that a purchase isn't necessary—that only the good company of Oaklanders and people of the county is wanted in that immense place of happiness and light. Recreation and business will run hand-in-hand—paradoxical as it may seem.

The history of the firm is one marked with struggling, sacrifices and constant saving. These men who have builded so well, saw deep into the future, and they heeded the pointing finger—and worked. Their seriousness of purpose did not exclude them from the congenialities of life; they were and always have been good citizens who do the best thing at the proper time and shrink back from unnecessary acclamation.

In 1879 their first store was opened to the Oakland public at Twelfth and Broadway. The stock was meager, and common prediction was that the tiny shop would not last a year without business circles. It did last—has lasted thirty-four years, and from present indications should last as many years longer.

FRUITS OF LABOR.
From this germ has sprouted the fruit. From a shop employing three people it has grown to one of hundreds. The site has been changed five times, but the same name has continued through the one and a half generations—the name of Kahn.

After a few years it was found necessary by the enterprising merchants to move to a larger store on Broadway, near Tenth. Room grew scarce there after a little time, and again did the store move its headquarters, this time on Broadway, between Twelfth and Thirteenth. More and more space was required, and with each new demand came an answer in the shape of removals to roomier and better locations. More goods were needed, of course, and so buyers began to make their appearance in the eastern trade centers: trips to European fashion places were taken at long intervals, and the demand began to grow faster than the supply.

The last five years have been prosperous with the firm—so prosperous that a final move was considered imperative by the brothers. After much discussion and investigation, the present site was the one selected, and excavation work was started at once. The result of not only a year's work stands before Oakland today—it is the love labor of thirty-four long years. The monument stands there for all to see—an achievement built by labor and capital.

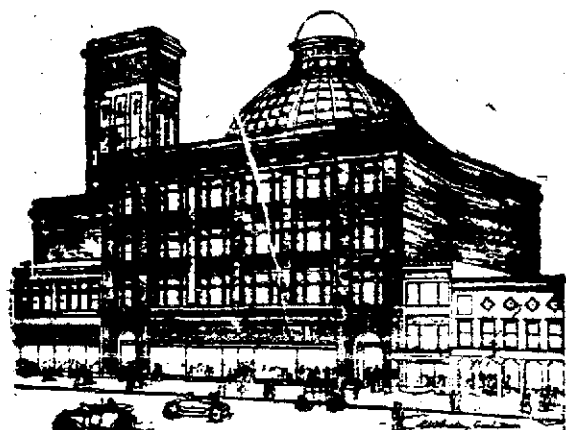

As always in such a large course of people, the observant one can find much human nature to study. Gentle old ladies and their male escorts looked with wonderment at the polished interior; little children forgot all about their mothers and families to slide down the smooth inclines, to be whisked around in the baby merry-go-round or to ride the huge and most wonderful white horse that is of the rocking variety. Tired people, happy people, people with much worldly goods and people with little all were mixed up in that jumble of humanity like the proverbial tin or sardines.

"It is a very fine place, Ma," one fine old man said to his wife, who held fast to the tiny hand of a girl, evidently a granddaughter. "I remember thirty years ago; Kahn's wasn't such a place as it is now; no indeed. They didn't have fancy arcades and mirrors and playgrounds and fancy daddies—no mam, but they did have the same pleasing atmosphere there and the same eagerness to please." and Ma nodded her head in complete assent. It has been just such people whose trade has built the new store, and their accounts must be treated almost sacredly by the old firm.

AN INCIDENT.
One young mother missed her two offspring. They had been close at hand a moment before, but in an instant the earth—or rather counters seemed to have swallowed them up. Hastily she retraced her steps in an endeavor to catch the youngsters; they could not be found. She weepingly told the story of their disappearance to a sympathetic clerk. He told the department manager; the department manager told three floor-walkers—and the search began. The trailing of the two lost babes did not last long—indeed it did not last at all. Within two minutes they were found sliding merrily down the playground inclines—all unconscious of the trouble they had made for half a dozen persons. Of course the young mother hastily gathered the two to her arms, and hugging them joyously, berated them for frightening her so.

They walked slowly to the lace counter. Mother scanned eagerly the filmy bits of creation from Ireland, Belgium, Chicago. As all women, her attention became diverted, and for a few moments the subject of lace was the only one that was engaging her mind. You know the rest. The children ran back to their play again—as children always do, and perhaps always will—and again the mother conducted the search for them. This time, however, with a better knowledge of their likely location. She found them as before—sliding. Decision came promptly into her face, and, smiling she seated herself—and waited. An hour later she was smiling—and only after a whispered conversation with the two children they consented to walk quietly with her—to the ice cream parlor. That mother had become a skilled diplomat in an fect was still there—the effect of gladness and happy thoughts. The elevator boys grinned when tiny tads and girties poked them playfully in the ribs with insistent elbows; tired salespeople still weary from their exertions of getting the place into condition for the reception, smiled and answered questions and sold goods with eagerness. All smiled—both store people and the strangers. It was the evident desire to make the newcomers feel at home, and with this wish of the firm's heads impressed deeply on them, the hired ones smiled and really looked pleased.

A surprising amount of purchasing was done. Goods placed on display rapidly disappeared via the wrappers' stands. The first day was a success from the standpoint, not only of showing off the establishment, but that of goodly profit.

MARE ISLAND NOTES

MARE ISLAND, Aug. 2.—It has been announced that the tender Iris, mother ship of the torpedo flotilla, with a base at San Diego, will visit the Mare Island yard August 23. The Iris will remain until December.

As a result of the action of the "plinking" board, Lieutenant-Commander J. M. Reeves, in command of the collier Jupiter, and Lieutenant J. A. Monroe, attached to the machinery division, have been ordered to prepare for an examination prior to departure for the Orient to relieve the Albany.

Authority has been received at Mare Island to spend the sum of $2000 for the installation of a fireproof wooden deck on the destroyer Stewart.

Two magazine buildings, to cost $2400, will be erected soon.

The bids for the proposed bay cruiser for the War Department will be opened in San Francisco August 8.

Witnesses messengers at Mare Island have picked up the cruiser Galveston, now on its way to San Francisco from Bremerton. The cruiser will stop in this bay to take on ammunition from the yard magazine prior to departure to the Orient to relieve the Albany.

The destroyer USS Albatross and the five target rafts and the caisson were removed. The Albatross and smaller craft will be taken in tow today.

Ensign Sydney M. Krause, in command of the destroyer Whipple of the Pacific torpedo flotilla, has been ordered to face a retiring board at Mare Island August 8. Krause failed to pass his physical tests.

It was announced yesterday that Lieutenant E. A. Brooks, executive officer on the collier Jupiter, had been ordered to face a retiring board August 12, when he will be tested for alleged defective hearing.

TOURS IN OREGON AND CALIFORNIA

Oakland man makes strenuous Journey Over Northern Roadbeds.

(By EDMUND CRINNION.)

Manager H. L. Owensby of the local Winton branch has received the following communication from Alfred B. Saroni, a prominent Oakland business man, who has just returned from an extended tour of Oregon.

"A party of four, consisting of Dan Aronson, Herbert Frank, Monroe Rothchild and myself," writes A. B. Saroni, "started out on the evening of July 2 for Sacramento. Leaving the following morning, we took dinner at Redding. We had covered a distance of 213 miles.

"Leaving for Shasta the next morning, via Baird's ranch, our progress was hindered by miserable roads, steep rocky climbs, numerous fords, by the ferry over the Pit river, and last, but not least, the heat. We had our only bit of trouble on the entire trip this day, a blow-out at a lumber camp called Le Morna, shortly before reaching Shasta.

"We spent some little time at Shasta, and left there after dinner for Montague, at which place we put up for the night.

"On the third day our course lay over the lumber country of Northern California, where the roads were nothing more than logging trails full of ruts, logs, sand and steep grades both up and down. The roads from the Oregon border to Klamath Falls were considerably better. This little town, by the way, with its White Hotel, can boast of as fine a hotel as we found anywhere.

"It was our original intention to go to Crater Lake, which was our reason for going via Klamath Falls, but we found that snow prevented our approach to within five miles. We were likewise advised against going to Portland, via Western Oregon, through Medford, Roseburg, etc., on account of the recent heavy rains, and we were told to drive to The Dalles, over roads proclaimed by Oregonians to be excellent.

"I have often traveled over 200 miles a day in California, in trip I considered myself lucky to make 100 miles in Oregon, when the roads are seldom 100 miles long.

"We left Klamath Falls late in the afternoon and had dinner at Fort Klamath, and found accommodations there so poor that we voted unanimously to keep on driving through the night. The next night was spent at Bend, Oregon.

"From Shanklin to The Dalles was a short run, and from here took the steamers down the Columbia river to Portland. This trip of about five hours was the most beautiful scenic route I have ever been over, and fully repaid us for continuing the trip.

"We left Portland late in the afternoon and drove through the mountains and fish wheels, locks and its rapids, through the Cascades, and finally to Seattle. I would not as a friend advise anyone to go over Eastern Oregon roads. I will say that any one going to Oregon without making that trip has wasted his time.

"With all that said, and that is in regard to my Winton motor. On all my trips, which includes two to Los Angeles and back, one to Tahoe, one to Portland, two to Lake County, one to the Geyers, countless ones to Santa Cruz, Del Norte, San Jose, Marin, Napa and Sonoma counties, I have never yet had to stop and even clean a spark plug; in fact, I only clean them about once a year, and then not because they need it. Never have ignition, carburetor or any kind of trouble with my engine, and consider it well high perfect, although my car is three years old.

"BOBBIE" GOES HUNTING.
"Bobbie" McKee, the Firestone kid, with the curly-haired expression, that has been the Major Domo behind the counter of the Holmes & Olson Firestone Tire House, leaves today for two-weeks' trip in the northern section of the State, with deliberate intent of puncturing the bladders of two separate and distinct "buckies." "Bobbie" could be depended upon to get more than two, only the law says two to one man in a season, and McKee says that means him also.

McKee will be chaperoned by W. Wiggins and "Billie" McCutcheon. The trio will make for the country about Sisters and Castle Lake.

DR. ROWELL MAKES TOUR.
The Pioneer Automobile Company just received a letter from Hubert H. Rowell, M. D., of Berkeley, to the effect that he just completed a tour of Trinity and Humboldt counties in his Chalmers "35," and that he came through with a "perfect score."

"Expecting to encounter bad roads, I naturally was somewhat skeptical as to what the car would do, but if any one doubts the ability of the '35' to take big grades, and do it comfortably, refer them to me. Never a miss in the engine and never a grade that was not easily taken, all this in the easiest riding car that I ever owned, and they have been five, is the record that I am glad to be able to voluntarily report for the Chalmers '35'.

ROSS DOESN'T CARE FOR STATE HIGHWAY

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 2.—The fashionable town of Ross, Marin county, doesn't want the State highway to run through its quiet and dignified borders. It does not want to be a main artery of travel, to listen to a chorus of honking automobiles or watch the lumbering wagons of the farmers going to market.

Ross desires refined seclusion, and so its Board of Trustees has unanimously subscribed to a vigorous protest against the proposed route of the highway through Kentfield, Ross, Corte Madera, Larkspur and San Anselmo.

WOULD PROFIT BY WORK OF EXPERTS

Educational Bureau issues Booklet on Foreign School Methods.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—For the purpose of profiting by the experience of foreign experts in education and school organization, the United States bureau of education today issued a statement setting forth the advice in modern educational methods in foreign countries. The statement which has been printed is intended for free distribution to schools and to other educational institutions. The treatise gives special attention to the subject of vocational training. The vocational schools in Germany, Austria, Switzerland, Norway and other European countries are described, and their systems, the bureau declares. "Should aid materially in solving the vocational problem in the United States."

"Practically every civilized nation is considered to some extent in the bureau's report," says the announcement. "Among special topics considered are health work in the schools of Great Britain, schools in Denmark, the teacher's syndicates in France, education for citizenship in Italy, Russia's efforts for rural uplift, and the partial adoption in New South Wales of the educational program of the labor party."

ASKS SHARE OF THE BRADBURY ESTATE

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 2.—A new contest of the will of the late William B. Bradbury, the eccentric Corte Madera millionaire, was filed in San Rafael yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Lillian M. Jordan of Los Angeles. It is directed against the second will. Mrs. Jordan is a daughter of the late Nathaniel F. Bradbury, a brother of William B. Bradbury.

She charges in her suit to break the will, which leaves the estate to the widow, that Bradbury was of unsound mind when the will was drawn.

A few minutes after the filing of Mrs. Jordan's suit for a share in the Bradbury wealth, Dennis M. Duffy and Hiram W. Johnson Jr., attorneys for the widow, filed their answer to the suit against the first will, which was instituted in behalf of Mrs. Gertrude Bell of Los Angeles, a niece.

Mrs. Jordan declares that in addition to herself there are three nephews and two nieces entitled to share in the estate.

BOGUS NAMES ON BIG PETITION, IS DECLARED

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 2.—The allegation of wholesale forgeries of signatures to referendum petitions relating to the "Red Light Abatement Bill" and other measures passed by the last legislature received confirmation yesterday in the names signed to the "Red Light" petition in this city. 1269 are declared by the registrar to be forgeries. In 626 other cases the names signed were found to be those of persons not on the registrar's list of the original 54,000 only 17,110 that are legitimate.

MYSTERY OF "SUICIDE" SOLVED BY ARREST

SANTA ROSA, Aug. 2.—Sheriff Jack Smith returned home yesterday afternoon with Vernon Doughty, the young insurance agent, who wrote to his parents telling of his suicide.

The sheriff arrested Doughty on a bench warrant issued by Judge Denny of the Superior Court, which charged that Doughty had been indicted by the Sonoma county grand jury for a statutory offense.

His bail was set at $2000.

COUNTLESS EXPECTS AN HEIR, IS REPORT

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 2.—Before Mrs. Hamilton McKay Twombly departed from Newport last Tuesday enroute to Japan she received a letter from her sister, Mrs. Vanderbilt, mother of the Countess Szechenyi, dated at Surrey, England, to the effect that Mrs. Vanderbilt was very happy, as were her daughter and son-in-law, Count and Countess Szechenyi, over the expected arrival of an heir some time this month.

System for Handling Sales Is Perfected

PNEUMATIC TUBES WILL ASSIST THE CASHIERS

Additional Sales People Will Be on Hand to Work Out Ideas of Modern Firm

Quick service will be the aim of the management, the Lamson pneumatic tube service, carrying change and charge orders to the great room up stairs, where seven busy cashiers will scoop the money and slips from the tubes, and send back change to customers as fast as skilled hands can.

Next to the San Pablo windows where an all-afternoon light will reach into the compartment until the sun sets. Packages will of course be wrapped at the various departments—every when transfer checks are issued when the goods are sent quickly to the accommodation counter and wrapped as soon as the closing transfer paper is sent down to the busy fingers below. If goods are to be delivered, wrapped in a special way on their way.

ADDITIONAL PEOPLE
Additional salespeople have been added to the already large force employed, and bargain days will see even a greater force of extra clerks. The policy of rapid, clean service has been a hobby with the Kahns for a good many years and this hobby will now be worked out to the fullest extent of the word.

"Service to me," said Fred Kahn, "means not only speed but takes in politeness and a good many more virtues that are found in the Good Book. Speed and the Bible may seem very far apart, but when you take into account all the anger, impatience, misunderstanding and a hundred other bad conditions that a quick system of despatch will erase, speed and the virtues are mighty close together.

"Cleanliness is another virtue. We believe in having an immaculate store if possible, knowing that dustless counters and clean looking fixtures are always a suggestion to trade. For pure, selfish reasons then, if you will, we are in our basement a large amount of clean, bright, one of the largest in Oakland. Dust will be Good eyes in our business must be kept well if possible. Our daylight store feature is of course well known, but our night lighting features are nearly as important. An immense number of 500 candle power tungsten lamps have been placed in convenient places, in such a way that both the buyer and clerk will have the full benefit. We studied this little detail for two weeks, trying to get some position which would throw down the and salesman, and it was only with the aid of an expert that we finally solved the problem.

"Sixty telephones in the building will all connect with the private exchange. The telephone system will not be used entirely between departments, for we have arranged at certain intervals a row of five colored lenses, each color designating one of the managers of the store. Suppose that I am wanted on the fourth floor. The light flashes behind the glass that calls for me. I am downstairs on the main floor. A clerk calls my attention to the flash, I see that I am wanted, and reaching the nearest telephone I am connected with the fourth floor, and am told the reason for the call. Thus excessive telephoning is saved, which of course also means time. The series of lenses are placed all around the store, and it will be an easy thing for any of the managers to be found. Present day methods demand speed; the people of every century demand politeness and cleanliness. And we intend to prove that we can have both. And, what proceed to show Oakland people the way it is done."

GRANT INCREASE OF CENT AN HOUR

Arbitrators Divided in Report on Street Railway Differences.

BUFFALO, N. Y., August 2.—The arbitration board appointed last April to settle the differences that led to a strike of international street railway employees gave out a divided report last night. The majority report gives the men an advance of one cent an hour, but retains the sliding scale to which the men objected. The dissenting report held that award is inadequate.

The executive committee of the local union held a conference last night, after the report had been issued, with William B. Fitzgerald, national organizer. Fitzgerald left for Detroit to report the situation to the national officers. He will return to Buffalo Sunday night. He declined to discuss the possibility of a renewal of the strike.

PRICES UNEVEN IN STOCK MARKET

Illinois Central Drops to the Lowest Figure in Many Years.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—The professional and narrow tone of the week's stock market were its most conspicuous features. Price movements were highly irregular, the leading stocks and commodities showing a range of two to four points. Steel was strongest of the speculative favorites, touching its best quotation in months on the excellent statement of earnings for the second quarter.

The railway group a long deferred out in the Illinois-Central dividend caused that stock to drop to its lowest price since 1898. Other stocks whose shares of the Southern and Southwestern roads became heavy toward the end of the unfavorable corn and cotton outlook.

Coppers reflected a further rise in the metal, caused in part by the strike in the Mexican district. There were movements, mainly upward, in various specialties, but they exercised little effect on the market.

The government's announcement of its intention to deposit large amounts of money at Western and Southern points for crop movements resulted in a general investment demand for general bonds was again lacking. Discounts eased abroad and money was fairly free here, a result, in part, of light demand.

SHOT IN PARK BY UNKNOWN MAN

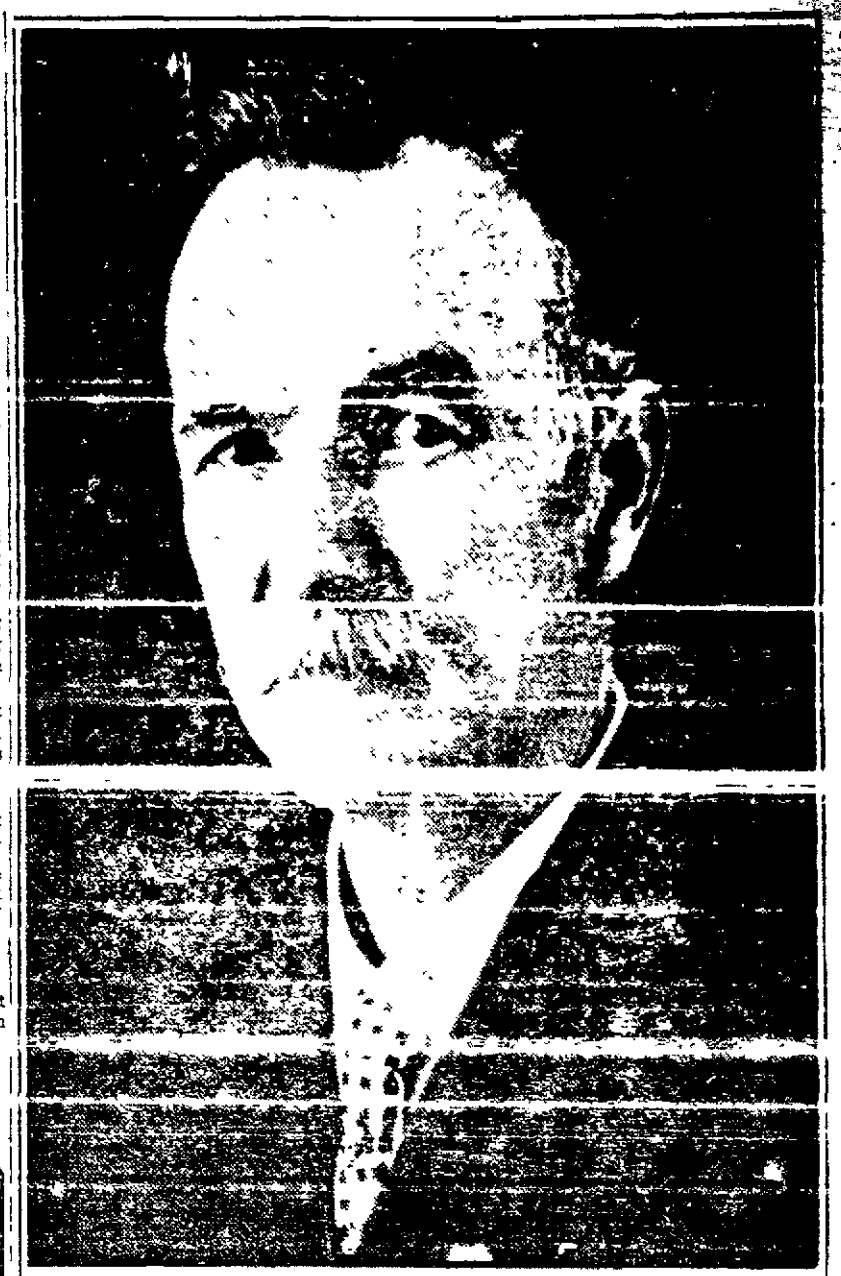

Jealousy Believed Motive of Mysterious Murder; Hounds on Trail.

GALLATIN, Mo., Aug. 2.—Edward Donaldson, aged 32 years, traveling salesman for a company at Junction, Ill., was shot and killed by an unknown man in a park here last night. The shooting took place while Donaldson was walking with a young woman of this city, with whom he became acquainted last night. The young woman told the police that a man whom she did not see distinctly, threw stones at her and Donaldson as Park. Two shots were fired, the first bullet barely missing the girl's head and the second pierced Donaldson's heart. The slayer escaped. Bloodhounds were brought from Chillicothe and put on his trail. Donaldson was a stranger here. The police believe that jealousy led to the murder.

CROP DAMAGED.

J. W. BANKHEAD ARTESIAN WELL CONTRACTOR

Wells—All Sizes. Soundings and Elevator Holes. Office and Residence: 886 TWENTY-NINTH STREET, OAKLAND, CAL.

A few words regarding the wells of the city of Oakland might be coincident with the opening of Kahn's new store, where I have put down two remarkable wells.

At the new Kahn building I put in 535 feet of test soundings for the purpose of securing an extra good foundation, with the result that I put in two twelve-inch wells, one on the Twelfth street side of the store, which is 304 feet in depth, and one on the San Pablo side, which is 156 feet in depth, and on testing them found the production of each to be 2000 gallons per hour, or an aggregate of 4000 gallons a day, which is many times the amount they could possibly use and what would be sufficient to supply the entire neighborhood with fine water.

I have been in the well boring business in the city of Oakland since 1889, and have put in the majority of the deep wells, soundings and elevator holes, all of which I keep correct data to show the different strata passed through.

Other wells that were successful was that of the Oakland Gas, Light and Heat Company, which produces between 450 and 700 gallons per minute and which is a sixteen-inch well.

I have a twelve-inch well in the California Door Company, which is one of the best wells in Oakland. It produces 1000 gallons an hour. I also put in several wells for the Pacific States Nurseries, each between 200 and 300 feet deep, and producing from 300 to 700 gallons a minute, also a sixteen-inch well for the Little Sisters of the Poor, on East Fourteenth street. I put in a very large well to a depth of 300 feet, which produces between 3000 and 4000 gallons an hour.

A well which I put in for Mr. Jake Pantoflet, at the free market, is 250 feet deep and has the most remarkable strata of gravel which I have encountered in any of the Oakland wells. The capacity is large, supplying the free market as well as the surrounding property.

I have also put down most of the large wells for the various laundries in Oakland—the Excelsior, a sixteen-inch well, which gives them 10,000 gallons an hour and is 200 feet deep. The Crystal Laundry, whose well I put down to 230 feet depth, produces between 7000 and 10,000 gallons an hour, the Yosemite Laundry also has a sixteen-inch well which is almost 200 feet deep.

The largest hand-bored well in the city of Oakland is at Tenth and Webster, which I put down for Mr. Tait, and from which he supplies about 10,000 gallons. This well is only twenty-four inches in diameter and eighty-four feet in depth.

Another remarkable well is a twenty-inch well which I put down for the Yosemite Bottling Company at First and Myrtle streets. A central pump is used, which is quite unusual.

For most of the large buildings, schools, etc., I have put in soundings and elevator holes. Have just finished the elevator hole for the Campanile at the University of California. Mrs. Sargent's gift to the University.

The industrial growth of Greater Oakland has been marvelous, and the largest and oldest business establishments in the country have come to our city and have located here so that they can take advantage of our magnificent rail and water transportation in shipping their goods to all portions of the world. One of the largest and most prominent business establishments is the house of W. P. Fuller & Company, which was originally established in 1849 at the very dawn of our commercial history. It was then located in Sacramento, which was at that time the metropolitan city of California, under the name of Fuller & Heather, and later when San Francisco began to predominate in the commercial affairs of the State the company moved its headquarters to that city and the firm name was changed to Whittier, Fuller & Company. They established themselves in this city in 1876. Mr. Whittier continuing with the company until 1894, at which time he withdrew and it was incorporated under its present name, and while their headquarters are still in San Francisco, this is considered one of the chief of their ten branches. They own and occupy their own three-story brick building and basement and employ sixty people in this city, on the corner of Tenth and Alice streets. Beyond doubt they are our largest manufacturers and importers of paints, oils, glass, sash and doors. They have been appointed the exclusive agents for the Standard Varnish Company, Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, Adam's Brushes, Valentine & Company, S. C. Johnson & Son, and are the exclusive agents on the Pacific Coast for Wolf's Head Automobile Oils. They have supplied nearly all of the important contractors in California and in our vicinity. Among their latest contracts are furnishing of the glass for the new city hall, the Oakland Hotel, the Realty Syndicate building and the Security Bank building, all of which are classed as among the finest and most prominent structures in California. At the head of the local business is Mr. David Williamson, who was given this important branch because during the ten years of his service with the company he has demonstrated himself to be one of their most capable and experienced business men.

Centralization is right up to the minute and is the most up-to-date method known and the responsibility can be placed quickly to some one in all transactions. Decentralization scatters responsibility and goes back to early history when there was no system inaugurated whatever in the average store business.

With all the most modern and up-to-date equipment installed and in a very modern store it cannot help but be a pleasure for the trading public to patronize Kahn Bros.

Lamson Service is in use in the most modern stores throughout the entire country, and the service rendered is superior from every point of view. It is the nearest thing to a perfect system of service.

COUPLE DECIDE TO FORGET, FORGIVE

Capitalist and Wife Start on Their Second Honey-moon.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 2.—(Special) Melietz, capitalist of this city, and his wife, Julia, left San Francisco yesterday on a second honeymoon following a reconciliation and a divorce action begun on June 18. Mrs. Melietz, who filed the complaint charging a series of offenses and forgery, overtook her husband on both sides and friends have been busy during the last few days congratulating the couple on their complete reconciliation to a happy married state.

The Melietz family was reunited with yesterday when attorneys on both sides filed a petition for a dismissal of the suit. Melietz is one-half owner of the Weisberg apartments, according to the wife in her divorce complaint, has $100,000 in bank and owns other realty and automobiles.

Chicago March 20, 1914. The wife complained that in July, 1913, in their summer automobile ride, she alleges that he beat her in the face and that she was marked thereby for three weeks. This was followed by an assault on her, according to her complaint, while they were living in the fashionable Temple Court apartments here.

Perhaps one of the features exclusively carried out by Kahn brothers in their new establishment, will be the balcony built especially for the reserve stock midway between the first and second floors. Here a complete showing is made of the stock on hand. As the fourth floor is devoted chiefly to the stock rooms, the reserve balcony is convenient in that in case of emergency, patrons may be accommodated within a few minutes, if the desired article is not forthcoming from the counter.

A new addition to the pharmacy department will be that of the prescription department, in this city. Drugs to a certain extent may be obtained by nearly all dry goods stores, but the responsibility of a prescription department has heretofore been left to the drug stores alone.

Another new counter will be given over to the floral department. Here fresh cut flowers may be obtained by the ladies while shopping aside from house plants and greenery for decoration purposes. This will be practically one of the most attractive stalls in the building and well equipped with the latest of the season's blooms.

NO CONFUSION IN ARRANGEMENT

The Comfort of Customers Taken Into Consideration By Builders

"Plenty of room for all" seems to be the idea that is being carried out by Kahn Brothers in their spacious department store facing Broadway, San Pablo and Broadway streets. Perhaps the department which will require the largest amount of space in the building will be that of the playmanagement has put in over $100 worth of play apparatus for the "little ones" who will be allowed to while away the time riding the dashing ponies, swinging in the great swings or shooting the slides that have been provided for the amusement of the children. W. T. Baker, president and manager, formerly with Tucker Company for twenty-two years as vice-president and general manager.

We have an extensive reputation for first-class work, having painted and decorated nine stores situated in the principal cities on the coast during the past year, and we now have a crew painting and decorating at San Diego.

We have also painted and papered some of the largest and best apartment houses and buildings in San Francisco, Oakland and bay cities, including Lane Hospital, Cooper Medical College and numerous office buildings.

As for local work we point with pride to the wood polishing in the Kahn building and also to the polishing and decorating of the Owl Drug Store at Thirteenth street and Broadway.

We employ over 100 painters, decorators and paperhangers and carry an extensive line of foreign and domestic wall coverings which can be seen at our showrooms at Webster and Fourteenth streets.

We have, so to speak, grown with the Kahn people, having polished the woodwork and painted woodwork in their first store in 1893, and have done their work continuously ever since.

The Alexander Young Hotel, in Honolulu, is now also being decorated by us.

Robert W. Hunt & Co.

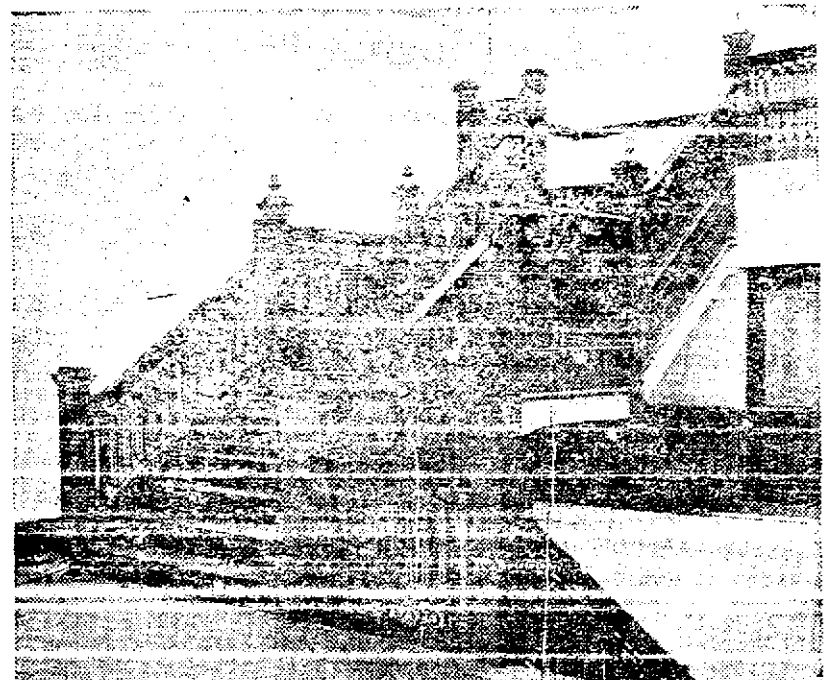

As with Liberty, the price of which we are told is eternal vigilance, so with perfect construction materials, experienced men know that they cannot be secured without the exercise of vigilant supervision. Especially is this true in the construction of large, modern buildings such as that which from today will house the great stores of Kahn Brothers in the City of Oakland.

The skeleton about which is fastened all the stone, brick, concrete and other materials that enter into the body of this construction, is a frame of columns, girders, beams, braces, etc., made of steel, forty or fifty carloads (2200 tons) of it. This steel was manufactured from the ore in the State of Pennsylvania, and was there pressed through great rolls into the forms (sections they are technically called), which subsequently sawed into proper lengths, were riveted together to frame. All this work had to be done with the utmost accuracy in accordance with the carefully calculated designs of the Architect and his Engineer. It was necessary after coming entirely across a continent, that the pieces of the frame when put together should fit with exactness, that when all set up and riveted together with tens of thousands of steel rivets, it should not vary from exact form by so much as a fraction of an inch in any part. It was also necessary that every piece of this steel should be properly constituted chemically, for steel varies much in its composition, and it must all have certain specified strength to carry the loads and stand the strains for which it was designed. It was absolutely necessary that there should be no mistake and no uncertainty about these things. In the erection of the steel skeleton also it was necessary to insure beyond question that the parts were properly fitted together, that they were plumb and level and firmly secured, for the stability of the whole structure, its safety depends upon the perfect character of this portion of the work.

As may be imagined, all this required expert supervision. The Kahn Realty Company secured it by calling upon the Robert W. Hunt & Co. Bureau of Tests and Inspections, whose special services in these and similar lines are in demand, and are supplied all over the world. They scientifically test and inspect both raw and finished construction materials of every description; Portland cement, stone, sand, brick, oil, asphalt, iron, steel, copper, rails, cars, locomotives, machines and machinery of all kinds, pipes, bridges and all sorts of structures. Their home establishment is in the Insurance Exchange Building in Chicago, but they maintain branches, which are not mere agencies, but which comprise both physical and chemical laboratories and corps of permanently employed inspectors and chemists at New York, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, San Francisco, Seattle, London, Montreal, Vancouver, B. C., and Mexico City.

For more than twenty-five years the firm of Robert W. Hunt & Company has been engaged in the specialized work described. It numbers among its clients almost all the largest purchasers of construction materials in America. It is this year testing and inspecting for the great railway systems of the country more than one-half of all the steel rails manufactured in the United States and Canada. Its employees are chosen men, experts in their special lines, and there are six hundred of them, about forty of them being in Europe and reporting to the London office. The California branch office and laboratories are located at 418 Montgomery street, San Francisco, and are in charge of Wm. B. Gester, C. E., as Manager.

THE MONARCH WORKS

The Monarch Iron Works have certainly added to their reputation for conscientious, painstaking and artistic effort in the work done by this firm on the new Kahn Building.

The contract for all ornamental iron, brass and bronze work as well, railings, stairs, store fronts, elevator enclosures and fire escapes, went to this firm. The work itself is the best evidence that the contract was well placed.

The Monarch Iron Works is located at 1151-65 Howard street, San Francisco, and was founded in 1908, the copartnership consisting of Niels M. Alling and H. Hallensleben.

Their floor space was originally 25x50 feet, but they have expanded from time to time and increased the same until now they occupy a two-story building with a floor space of 60x100 feet and an additional yard space of 85x100 feet.

They employ from eighteen to forty men continually and have handled contracts all over the coast, principally in San Francisco, Oakland and Sacramento.

The ornamental iron, brass, bronze and grille work in many of the largest and costliest of our coast buildings is the output of the Monarch Iron Works. Space permits mentioning the names of only a few of the more important ones:

The Bankers' Investment Building, Adler Sanitarium, Whitney Building, Lurline Baths, Holbrook Building, MacDonough Building all of San Francisco; the Y. M. C. A. Building of San Jose and Pantages Theater, Stocker & Holland Building of Oakland; also one of the largest office buildings in Sacramento, as well as the power plant for the Gas and Electric Company and the large building at the southeast corner of Fourteenth and Clay streets in this city.

Their largest job to date, however, was the building for the Kahn Realty Company and the sum total of this contract amounted to many thousands of dollars.

Promptness and the fulfillment of contracts in the utmost detail are never-failing features of their work, and the answer has been a constant expansion in their business entirely in keeping with and as a result of this policy.

Nothing is skimped or left to mere guesswork, but everything is worked out on a thorough and painstaking basis and the consequence is this—a steady and increasing demand for the use of this skill as exemplified in the ornamental and constructive work of the Monarch Iron Works.

NICARAGUA TREATY TO BE REDRAFTED

Sovereign Authority by United States Is Strongly Opposed.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—The proposed protectorate for Nicaragua, embraced in a treaty suggested by Secretary Bryan, probably will be abandoned because of adverse action by the Senate foreign relations committee. Chairman Bacon was instructed today to ask Secretary Bryan to transmit a new Nicaraguan treaty limited strictly to the proposed $3,000,000 purchase of the canal route and naval base concessions.

The fight against the proposal became so pronounced in the committee today that it was decided it would be impracticable to attempt a settlement of the policy at the present time. It was decided to ask Secretary Bryan to withdraw the protectorate features and limit the Nicaraguan treaty to those it originally embraced. Imitations had been received by Democrats on the committee that the president and Secretary Bryan would be able to lay the protectorate policy aside temporarily and it is expected that a completed new draft of the treaty will be ready within a few days, without the provisions giving the United States control over Nicaragua's future.

THESE ARE PROVISIONS.

Chairman Bacon was instructed to ask Secretary Bryan to submit a treaty limited to the following provisions:

The grant by Nicaragua to the United States of a perpetual and exclusive right to build a canal across Nicaragua.

A 99-year lease on a naval base site on Fonseca Bay and a 99-year lease on the Corn Island, in the Caribbean sea.

The payment by the United States to Nicaragua of $3,000,000 in return for these concessions.

BRYAN MAY NOT BE ABLE TO LECTURE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—Considerable anxiety prevails in Washington for fear that the unsettled Mexican problem and the outbreak of Castro in Venezuela, and the expected coming of another note from Japan may seriously interfere with Bryan's lecture tour, which was due to begin today.

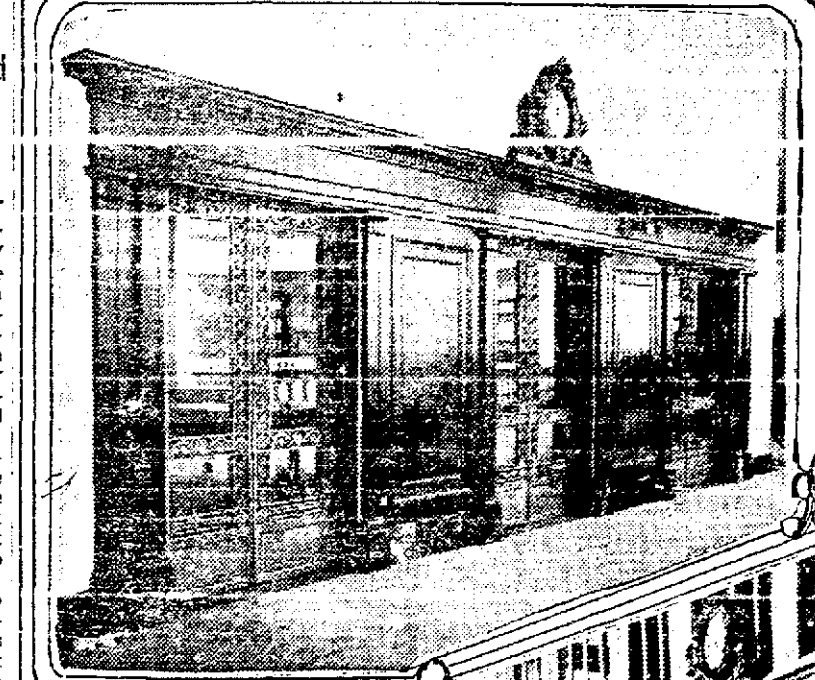

Bryan has announced from day to day that he expected to leave Washington at the end of the week, but indicating that the day had not finally been set. It is not known whether he will feel in a position to tear himself away or not.

Otis Elevators in Kahn Building

When considering the elevator equipment for their new building, The Kahn Realty Company made a most thorough investigation into the merits of different makes and types of elevators. They carefully considered the matter of safety, reliable service and economy in operation and decided in favor of the well-known Otis Electric Elevators. The elevator equipment of a large mercantile establishment like the new Kahn store is an extremely important feature and in the Otis Elevator installation in this store special attention has been given to make this plant a credit to the owners as well as to the Otis Elevator Company.

The elevator plant consists of three Otis Car Switch Control Electric Passenger Elevators with a car speed of 300 feet per minute and capacity of 3600 pounds, equipped with the French Target Type Annunciators and illuminated thresholds. The Otis Car Switch Control Electric Elevator has many prominent safety features that are especially desirable in a department store.

The installation also includes one Otis Electric Freight Elevator with capacity of 5000 pounds, two Otis Automatic Push Button Control Electric Dumbwaiters for convenience in the rapid handling of articles from one floor to another, two Otis Hydro-Pneumatic Direct Lift Sidewalk Elevators with capacity of 2000 pounds and one Otis Double Spiral Gravity Package Conveyor for handling packages from the different floors to the delivery tables on the lower floor.

Among the prominent Oakland buildings equipped with Otis Elevators may be mentioned Oakland City Hall, Oakland Hotel, Realty Syndicate, Union Savings Bank, First National Bank, Security Savings Bank, Oakland Bank of Savings, Capwells' and Taft & Pennoyers.

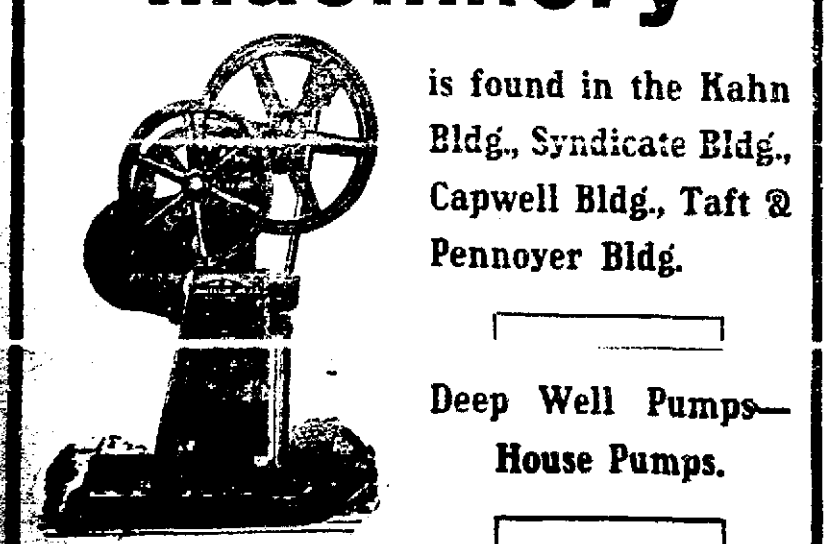

The Otis Elevator Company, in order to give better attention to the wants of users of Otis Elevators, has recently established a Service Department. This Department includes a large force of expert elevator mechanics who have had long experience in handling all kinds of elevator problems. This department is prepared to take care of night and Sunday calls. The Otis Oakland office at 502 Seventeenth street, in charge of Mr. H. T. Johnson, a thoroughly practical and experienced elevator man, will be pleased to answer inquiries and make estimates of work, and will be glad to give references of satisfied customers.

The main offices and factory are at Stockton, North Point and Beach streets, San Francisco, with branches at Oakland, Los Angeles, San Diego, Fresno, Sacramento, Portland, Seattle, Spokane, Tacoma, Salt Lake City, Denver, Boise and Honolulu.

LARGEST ELLIPTICAL DOME IN AMERICA

HANDSOME, SIMPLE AND SUBSTANTIAL

Great Freight Elevators Also Are a Feature of New Structure

There are features here that are not found elsewhere in the world. The statement is a large one on the surface but true nevertheless. The great central dome, according to C. W. Dickey, the architect, is the largest elliptical dome in America.

"I wrote to the Engineering News, the standard publication on construction work in the United States, and gave them the dimensions, which are 15 by 97 feet. From the main floor to the top of the dome is 122 feet, and to the top, they at once wrote back asking me for more information. I have just learned that the dome in our new department store is the largest elliptical one in the world, as far as could be found out, and the paper's investigations are usually most thorough. So there is some satisfaction in that.

"In addition to this, there is the largest freight elevator in the United States, which means in addition, at other countries besides. The elevator measures 10 by 20 feet, and can accommodate a fully loaded automobile truck. The delivery machines will run on to the 11th from the street, descend to the basement, where the delivery packages will be loaded. The ascent will be made in a few seconds, and the automobile will rush away to its thousands of destinations, without causing the usual confusion that would result should the loading have taken place on the street level.

ABSOLUTELY MODERN.
"I make these statements merely to show the people of Oakland that this new store is absolutely modern, and that the Kahn brothers are anxious to provide only such equipments as will mean easy despatch, and better working and shopping conditions.

"Three large passenger elevators, each able to accommodate 24 people, will ply between floors. Every new detail and improvement that the elevator people have invented are on these machines, safety and speed being the two things that they have had in mind.

"In regard to parcels and their delivery, the store is provided with a double spiral chute, one portion leading to the basement where bundles will be kept, until the delivery autos are ready for them, the other ending at the accommodation counter, where the purchaser may obtain the bundles which will be waiting for them by the time they are ready to leave for home. Accommodation slips will be the mode of obtaining the parcels—duplicate cards being provided. Two large dumbwaiters will help in emergency.

FIREPROOF ESCAPES.
"The store has a new fire escape, and should flames break out the employees will be able to run through a door on any floor of the building, close it in the face of oncoming destruction, and walk down stairs to safety. The stairs are enclosed in a shaft of tile and fireproof material—two reaching from the fourth floor to the first, and one from the fourth to the second as the law requires. They are cut off from the building proper by this wall of fireproofing, and even if the whole establishment is a roaring inferno, this shaft will still be intact and remain so until the last. Then in case of emergency, the bundle chute which measures 6 feet by 6, might be used to slide to the first floor—and safety. This chute will easily accommodate a

"Other fire-fighting apparatus has been provided—the huge storage tanks on the roof for instance. These receptacles hold an extra supply of 100,000 gallons, and should heat in the store's interior rise to 170 degrees the automatic sprinklers placed every ten feet apart on the building's four ceilings will open and send the water down to the floors in a veritable flood. Their own well and pumping system in the basement would also aid in case of a conflagration, so that these enterprising brothers have absolutely done their best to protect their property and of course their employees.

FIRE DRILLS CALLED.
Fire drills will be called often to teach the store people coolness in the face of flames, and all these things will be easily recognized as acts of public spirited citizens who not only think of their own pockets, but who remember the other fellow.

"Indeed, Kahn Brothers might have saved a good many thousands of dollars had they wanted to—and the public would have never been the wiser. A little less varnish, fewer conveniences, a little staving here and there, and the original cost of the great, new establishment facing Telegraph avenue, Fifteenth street and San Pablo avenue, would have been reduced by almost one-fourth. There you have it in a nutshell—Oakland is ready for only the best and the finest."

ELIM GROVE PURCHASE RAISED BY Y. M. C. A.

SANTA ROSA, Aug. 2.—It was announced last night that the sum needed for the purchase of the Elim grove at Chabot for the Pacific Young Men's Christian Association Institute, one of the five great institutes of the kind in the United States, has been subscribed. NEGRO SENTENCED FOR GRAVE CRIME

Pleads for Light Sentence and Is Given Five Years in Folsom.

John Mack, a negro, who pleaded guilty to a statutory offense, was sentenced to five years in Folsom prison this morning by Superior Judge William H. Donahue. The man pleaded for a light sentence, declaring that he had only committed one offense. Testimony from the police department had declared he confessed to several.

"I had to say that to the police," he declared. "They threatened to club me

SAN FRANCISCAN HURT IN MOTORCYCLE CRASH

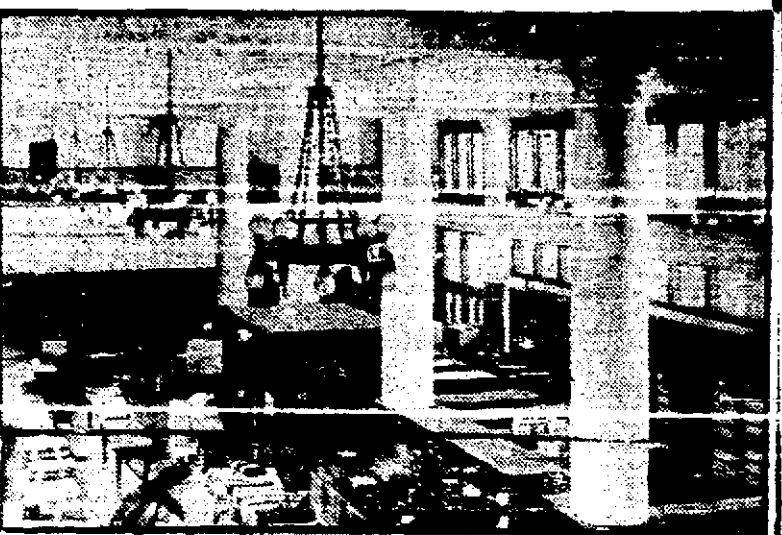

PALO ALTO, Aug. 2.—Walter Scheller, the 21-year-old son of Mrs. John Myer of 1891 McKinnon avenue, San Francisco, is lying in a critical condition at the Peninsula hospital from injuries received at 12:30 yesterday afternoon when the motorcycle upon which he was riding crashed into an automobile driven by Tom Cardona. He has a bad fracture on the right of the skull and severe lacerations on the back. An operation was performed yesterday afternoon with little hope of the injured man's recovery.

Scheller has been making his home with Mrs. Herman Bleiler, wife of the local blacksmith, by whom the young man was employed.

"I did anything like that," said Walter Scheller. "Don't tell me such a story."

"Well, it's true," said the man. The judge then declared that he would impose a light sentence because he believed the case one of degeneracy, which might be cured, rather than one of actual crime. "I am not in favor of heavy

The English Company

On entering studio of the English Company one is reminded of the small shops of Europe, where the things on display are conspicuous not for their number, but rather because of being different than those shown in the conventional store. The reception room is finished in French gray, effectively contrasted with warm colored mulberry porters and Gothic furniture. The blue room is light and airy in tone, with comfortable and inviting wicker chairs. The feeling one experiences on entering the ordinary lighting fixture store, not unlike an inverted forest because of the numerous fixtures suspended from the ceiling is totally absent.

The company, while of comparatively recent origin, has handled many of the largest residence and commercial installations recently completed.

Mr. English was formerly associated with the Duffner & Kimberly Studios of New York, and while in the employ of a local firm supervised the installation of the lighting fixtures in the Oakland Hotel, the Realty Syndicate Building, H. C. Capwell's new store, Security Bank Building and a number of large residences. Mr. Diefendorf, who is associated with him, also enjoys the advantage of extensive metropolitan experience, having been formerly identified with one of New York's leading studios, and devotes his time almost exclusively to residence work.

WIPES OUT WELLS, FARGO RATES IN CALIFORNIA

State Railroad Commission Renders Decision Which Substitutes Schedule.

Action Will Result in Reduction of Revenue by About $750,000.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 2.—After an investigation lasting two and a half years the California state railroad commission yesterday rendered a decision that wipes from the slate all existing express rates maintained by Wells Fargo & Co. within the state.

The commission substitutes therefor an entirely new schedule of rates, recasting the rules and regulations of the corporation and prescribes an absolutely new basis for rate-making.

REDUCES REVENUE. This action, which is the most drastic ever undertaken by the commission, will result in a reduction in the annual revenue of the Wells Fargo company in this state by approximately $750,000.

The commission finds that the company has been earning as high as 135 per cent per annum upon its investment in California, and that on a minimum basis it has been earning in excess of 111 per cent per annum.

REDUCES RATES 15 PER CENT. The reductions made by the commission will result in rates about 15 per cent lower than those now in force. The new rates are to go into effect in 60 days. The company is given the privilege of making a further reduction of 15 per cent within 60 days of the rates prescribed by the commission.

Under the system ordered by the commission the state is checker-boarded into ten-mile blocks, with definite charges from the points within one square to the points within another square, and the same rates are made applicable to all points within each square. In addition, the state has been divided into sections in accordance with general traffic conditions.

FINDINGS SUMMARIZED. The commission's findings may be summarized as follows: Wells Fargo & Co. has been earning an average of 135 per cent per annum upon its investment in California, and that on a minimum basis it has been earning in excess of 111 per cent per annum.

(2) Commission finds that the methods employed by Wells Fargo & Co. were entirely unreasonable, discriminatory and unjust.

(3) Commission declares that the express company is a parasite upon the railroad, and that its rates should be performed by the railroads themselves or some other agency.

(4) Commission finds that on an investment of $1,000,000 in California, Wells Fargo & Co. would earn $1,350,000 per annum, or 135 per cent.

(5) Commission declares that the rates will be reduced 15 per cent, and that the company will be required to make a further reduction of 15 per cent within 60 days of the rates prescribed by the commission.

(6) Commission declares that the rates will be reduced 15 per cent, and that the company will be required to make a further reduction of 15 per cent within 60 days of the rates prescribed by the commission.

(7) Commission declares that the rates will be reduced 15 per cent, and that the company will be required to make a further reduction of 15 per cent within 60 days of the rates prescribed by the commission.

(8) Commission declares that the rates will be reduced 15 per cent, and that the company will be required to make a further reduction of 15 per cent within 60 days of the rates prescribed by the commission.

(9) Commission declares that the rates will be reduced 15 per cent, and that the company will be required to make a further reduction of 15 per cent within 60 days of the rates prescribed by the commission.

(10) Commission declares that the rates will be reduced 15 per cent, and that the company will be required to make a further reduction of 15 per cent within 60 days of the rates prescribed by the commission.

(11) Commission declares that the rates will be reduced 15 per cent, and that the company will be required to make a further reduction of 15 per cent within 60 days of the rates prescribed by the commission.

(12) Commission declares that the rates will be reduced 15 per cent, and that the company will be required to make a further reduction of 15 per cent within 60 days of the rates prescribed by the commission.

(13) Commission declares that the rates will be reduced 15 per cent, and that the company will be required to make a further reduction of 15 per cent within 60 days of the rates prescribed by the commission.

(14) Commission declares that the rates will be reduced 15 per cent, and that the company will be required to make a further reduction of 15 per cent within 60 days of the rates prescribed by the commission.

(15) Commission declares that the rates will be reduced 15 per cent, and that the company will be required to make a further reduction of 15 per cent within 60 days of the rates prescribed by the commission.

(16) Commission declares that the rates will be reduced 15 per cent, and that the company will be required to make a further reduction of 15 per cent within 60 days of the rates prescribed by the commission.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC OAKLAND

ON AND AFTER JUNE 8, 1913.

SIXTEENTH STREET DEPT. - Arrive

Have You Ever Thought How Easy It Is To Get To Kahn's

Of course you haven't. It really wasn't necessary. Because it is almost certain that the car you come down town on passes our doors.

If you live in Berkeley, you couldn't get to the shopping district of Oakland without stopping at Kahn's. The College, Telegraph, Grove, Shattuck and San Pablo car lines all stop at our doors.

The Piedmont cars, too, stop at Kahn's. And if you are on an Oakland avenue car just say to the conductor "stop at Kahn's." It's the same if you come from Richmond.

And from beyond the Lake, how easy it is to get to Kahn's—the East 16th, East 18th and East Alameda cars all stop here.

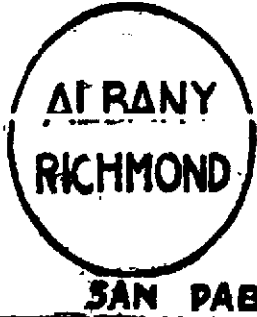

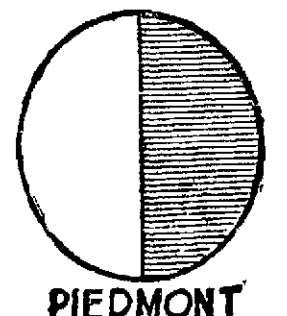

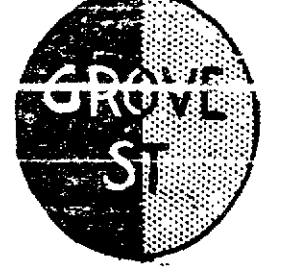

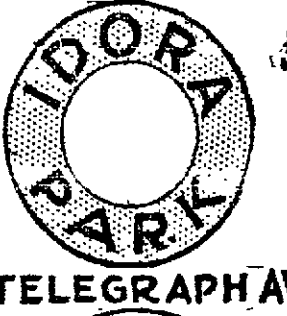

From Alameda via East Oakland the cars pass our entrances on San Pablo, and soon they will come right up Washington street to our doors.

Out of town visitors coming to Oakland by the Southern Pacific (to First or Sixteenth)—Santa Fe—Oakland, Antioch and Eastern—or Western Pacific—can always take a car that stops at Kahn's.
